POSSE STILL PURSUING

And May Soon Reach Hiding Place
---Three of Assassins Taken to Roanoke.

Hillsville, Va., March 18.—The search for the members of the Allen clan throughout the commonwealth of Virginia, irrespective of all cost, to bring to justice the five citizens who killed nearly all the officers of the county circuit court, was firmly begun today.

Eight picked men remained on the mountain side all night guarding the approaches to Devil's Den, an inaccessible place where the fugitives are supposed to be hiding. Today citizens joined the entire posse of 75 detectives and citizens who volunteered and who rested over night in Hillsville after an exhaustive day yesterday.

Every effort is being made to run down Sidney Edwards, a nephew of the older Allen, who is wounded in the foot and alone in the mountains, making an effort to join his relatives. If the outlaws are at Devil's Den it means certain death to any who attempt to reach the place. It is being planned to dynamite the mountain side.

Hillsville, Va., March 18.—Two thousand feet above sea level, among the crags and caves of the Blue Ridge mountains, the Allen gang that demonstrated their contempt of constituted law by a massacre of the judge, the prosecutor and the sheriff of the Carroll county court last Thursday, continued Sunday to defy capture.

The day's search by a posse of 75 detectives and citizen volunteers demonstrated that unless the militia is sent here to begin a systematic siege of the hiding places of the outlaws, they may never be brought to answer to the indictments for murder. For such a plan a camping site was selected yesterday for representatives of Governor Mann.

The county authorities are working in harmony with the state, and orders may soon be issued for companies of militia, if not for the search certainly for the formal arraignment of the prisoners, which is scheduled here for March 26. The arraignment is likely to be postponed.

Those who know the paths and passes of the highlands and the points of vantage from which the outlaws could ward off an attacking force with least hurt to themselves say that the Allens are unquestionably concealed behind the overhanging precipices of Devil's Den, half way between here and Mt. Airy, N. C.

There, with provisions and ammunition, of which it is said they have plenty, an attacking force would find the aim of the Allens deadly. Some think it may be necessary to dynamite the mountain citadels.

Quiet prevailed in Hillsville Sunday. The village pastor preached in favor of capital punishment at all times and there was no mistaking what he meant. From the countryside came the curious on horseback, muleback, by oxcarts and rigs of every description, fording the high waters of the creek and climbing the steep hills to the summit where reposes the hamlet of Hillsville.

Dexter Goad, clerk of the court, with a bullet in his cheek and a bandage across his face, showed the folks just how it happened. He rehearsed the scene with vivid detail, even to placing the bullet-scarred chairs that were occupied by Judge Massey, Sheriff Webb and Commonwealth's Attorney Foster. A row of bullet holes, low on the right hand wall, were added evidence of the tragedy.

A shattered rail in front of the judge's bench also showed the effect of the fusillade and upon the floor was the discoloration of blood. Clerk Goad showed how Attorney Foster, after being fatally shot, staggered and dropped his head upon a sheepskin volume of the law. A dark coat of blood on the book was mute evidence.

Andrew Howlet and Stuart Worrel, both bystanders, wounded at Thursday's assassination, rested easily. One has a bullet in the lung and the other was shot in his side. Juror Columbus Kane, who was shot in the abdomen and most seriously injured of all, may die, which would bring the death list to six.

Over the rain-chained mountain-side the posse skinned all day Sunday to no avail. They conducted their movements in the broad glare of a hot sun, which, however, helped to dry the muddy roads, making the prospects for today more encouraging.

Contrary to earlier reports the telephone wires throughout this district have not been cut by the Allens or anyone else. Communication from the outside world has been difficult in the last two days principally because of the heavy outflow of press dispatches which are being telephoned from here to Barren Springs and being telegraphed from there.

Jasper Allen, known as Jack, who is a brother of Sidna and Floyd, but who is said not to have been involved in the shooting, made a statement last night on behalf of the Allens. At his home, seven miles from Hillsville, he said:

"I am greatly surprised and shocked at what has happened. I don't think my brothers had made any plot or plan. When I saw Sidna the night of the shooting, he told me he knew nothing of any trouble beforehand, and was surprised himself when the shooting began in the court room."

"I do not believe my relatives will give themselves up, for I am not sure that they will get a fair trial in Carroll county. My brother Sidna was wounded when he passed my home Thursday night and was alone. I do not know where he has gone and have received no word from him since. I shall not try to advise them about giving themselves up. They must do as they think best."

Last night part of the posse came back to Hillsville and part remained in the hill brush pursuing Sidna Edwards, a nephew of Floyd Allen. Edwards was last reported climbing higher and higher through the laurels of the Blue Ridge, with the posse about two hours after him. According to the detectives who returned last night, the man is fleeing with an injured foot. By trailing Edwards the posse hopes to locate the rest of the band.

Pursuit is difficult at this time of the year. A person high up on the hills can see pursuers many thousands yards, but one working through the bush can see nothing ahead.

AT MASONIC HALL
FRIDAY EVENING

On Friday evening, March 22, there will be a mass meeting of the members of the Masonic fraternity, at Masonic Hall, for the purpose of talking over the project of the new temple. Architect Redding will show preliminary plans of the new building at the meeting, where they can be studied and discussed. Word has been received from Grand Master Thomas B. Giteau of Toledo, that he will be present at this meeting, and it is expected that the presiding officers of all the Masonic bodies of the state will be present. Every Mason in the city, whether a member of the local bodies or not, is earnestly invited and urged to be present. It is to the interest of all members of the Masonic bodies to be on hand at this time. Do not forget the date, Friday night, Mar. 22.

SERVICES FOR MAINE'S DEAD

Washington, March 18.—President Taft today sent a letter to congress, asking the house and senate to adjourn and attend in a body the memorial services to be held Saturday for the dead of the old battleship Maine. The president said he wished the ceremony to be as national in character as possible.

More work is put upon naval guns in target practice each quarter than they were required to stand during the Spanish war.

OPERATORS OPPOSING DEMANDS OF HALF MILLION COAL MINERS AND NATION FACES POSSIBILITY OF GREATEST STRIKE IN HISTORY

With representatives of the 180,000 anthracite coal miners and the operators still at loggerheads in New York over the adoption of a new scale, and a strike possible as the result of the conference at Cleveland March 22, of representatives of the 327,000 bituminous miners in the central states and their employers, the United States may find itself within the next few weeks in the throes of one of the greatest coal strikes in history. The map shows the location of American coal fields. Below is Harry J. Taylor, of Chicago, president of the Illinois Coal Operators Association, who will head the operators in the Cleveland conference. The present miners' wage contract expires March 31.

CONVICTS
OVERTAKEN

Two Prisoners Who Escaped From Nebraska Pen Reported Killed

THIRD MAN CAPTURED

Posse On Trail of Men Since Daylight This Morning--Killed Prison Officials.

Lincoln, Neb., March 18.—Advices received here and confirmed by three different sources are to the effect that posses have killed Taylor and Dowd and have captured Morley.

Louisville, Neb., March 18.—The three convicts who last Thursday murdered the penitentiary officials are now being pursued by a posse of citizens from Omaha, Lincoln and Plattsmouth.

Their capture is momentarily expected. They are being driven to Springfield by Roy Blunt, a farmer in a sleigh and the convicts are lying in the body of the vehicle forcing the farmer to expose himself to the pursuers in the firing. The escaped men entered the Blunt home shortly before noon and ordered Blunt to take them to Springfield. They threatened to kill him and he acceded. The pursuing party is within a few hundred yards behind the sleigh but so far no shots have been fired for fear of hitting the driver.

Lincoln, Neb., March 18.—The three convict murderers who escaped from the Nebraska state prison on Thursday just before daylight have been reported to have been seen near South Bend, Neb., on a handcar. They had stolen the hand car at Prairie Home and broke into a hardware store stealing guns, ammunition and clothing.

CHICAGO MAN
SHOOTS SELF
EARLY TODAY

Chicago, March 18.—William C. Shippe, head of the Conrad Shippe Brewing company, and son of the late Conrad C. Shippe, shot and killed himself just before breakfast in a room adjoining the dining room. Mr. Shippe, who was 61 years old, arose shortly after seven o'clock and going into an adjoining room while Mrs. Phoebe Shippe, his wife, and three sons were eating breakfast, shot himself. They heard the shooting and physicians were summoned and found him dead. Later members of the family announced that he had committed suicide in a fit of despondency due to a long illness.

CELEBRATED FIFTY-EIGHTH
WEDDING ANNIVERSARY SATURDAY

MR. AND MRS. JOHN LAWYER
The above is the likeness of Mr. and Mrs. John Lawyer of Eddy street, who observed their 58th wedding anniversary on Saturday. Mr. Lawyer has been seriously ill for the past ten weeks but Mrs. Lawyer, who has been ill for five weeks has greatly improved and she is not thought to be in a dangerous condition. On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Lawyer received beautiful remembrances from numerous friends. Mr. Lawyer is 81 years old while Mrs. Lawyer is 78.

SEVEN ARE DROWNED IN A COLLISION

London, March 18.—Seven passengers and Europeans of the crew of the Peninsular & Oriental steamer Océana were drowned while being rescued after the collision in the British channel of that vessel on Saturday with the German bark Pisagua. Several Lascars belonging to the crew were also drowned.

TAFT IS BUSY
IN BOSTON TOWN

Boston, March 18.—President Taft began his two days' visit to New England with an engagement list which will keep him busy. He attended a formal breakfast by the city officials and is "programmed" to address the Massachusetts legislature, an informal luncheon with the Pilgrim Publicity club, review the evacuation and St. Patrick's day parade, call at the dinner given by the Charitable Irish societies, the Boston Bankers' association, the Boston Paper trade organization and the Yale club of Boston.

DEATH PENALTY ABOLISHED BY STATE BOARD

Columbus, March 18.—The state board of administration of state institutions has issued a new code of rules for state institutions under the board's supervision. Under the new rules corporal punishment is abolished.

HOW HARMON PROSECUTED
THE TRUSTS

Columbus, March 18.—To meet the issue on which he has been most sorely attacked, Governor Harmon's publicity bureau is out with a statement to the effect that the governor too, has something of a record as a trust buster and that neither Mr. Taft or Mr. Roosevelt may claim all the credit.

It was Governor Harmon, when he was attorney general of the United States, the statement seeks to show, who first conceived the idea which has been urged by progressive senators in recent sessions of Congress to make the Sherman anti-trust law so plain that he who runs may read and to define exactly what is and what is not violation of its provisions. The statement says in part:

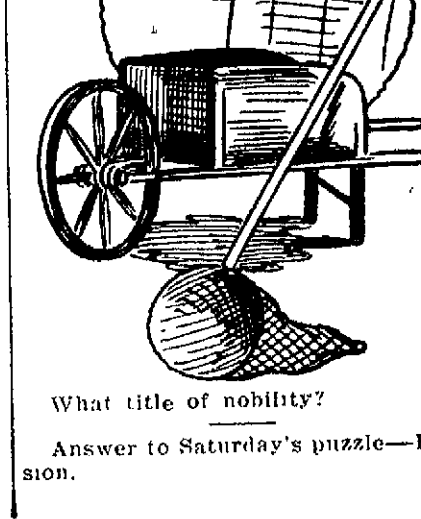

"It was Judson Harmon, while attorney general of the United States, who delivered the first blow in this country in defense of the people and against the trusts. Proceeding under authority of the Sherman anti-trust law, he prosecuted to a successful termination in the United States supreme court three important suits, thereby rendering a service which stands pre-eminent among the acts performed by officers in the legal department of the federal government."

"Attorney General Harmon prosecuted the suits at the most critical period in the life of the anti-trust law, at a time when he had no precedents to follow and when he was handicapped by adverse decisions in the lower federal courts."

"During the time Mr. Harmon was attorney general Congress gave him only $25,000 to $50,000 a year to investigate and prosecute trust violations and transact other business of the department." Attorney General Vickersham has been lavishly supplied with funds, the appropriation for his department ranging from $200,000 to $500,000 a year.

"But meagreness of funds had the fact that two federal courts had decided the Sherman anti-trust act unconstitutional did not swerve Attorney General Harmon from the path of duty and it was he who succeeded in having the law declared so it could be enforced and since then every decision of the supreme court which involved the meaning of the statutes, has been decided in favor of the government and all of them have been based on the pioneer decisions, which were the result of Mr. Harmon's prosecution of the trans-Missouri Freight Association case."

TWENTY-FIVE KILLED
BY THE EXPLOSION OF A LOCOMOTIVE BOILER

Number of Buildings and Homes Wrecked in Vicinity of Southern Pacific Yards at San Antonio, Texas

EIGHTEEN BODIES HAVE BEEN RECOVERED

Nearby Stores and Buildings Converted Into Temporary Hospitals for Care of the Injured---

Round House and Copper Shops Demolished---Victims Largely Men Employed as Strike Breakers.

San Antonio, Texas, March 18.—Twenty-five men are known to have been killed and a great many injured, and several buildings and homes wrecked by the explosion of a locomotive boiler in the local yards of the Southern Pacific railroad today. Eighteen bodies had been recovered within two hours after the explosion and more are being removed while nearby stores and buildings are crowded with the injured.

The round house and the cooper shops are practically demolished and many of the men at work were hurt by the falling walls. The army hospital corps was rushed to the yards and the Y. M. C. A. men were organized into rescue parties and began digging out the dead and saving the lives of the wounded. It will be impossible to identify some of the dead as the task of piecing together the particles of the bodies is hopeless.

The victims largely were employed as strike breakers. The strike breakers have been working in the Southern Pacific shops ever since the shop men quit work several months ago. There were rumors about the city that the explosion had been caused by dynamite but an investigation at the shops showed that there was no indication that such rumors had started there.

The locomotive was standing in the yards and the explosion occurred without warning. Part of the roundhouse collapsed and the half-ton jacket of the locomotive was torn off and dropped between two houses on Duval street several blocks distant. The tender was catapulted several hundred feet and when found was a shapeless mass of steel.

STRANGE EPIDEMIC
AT OLD HARVARD

Cambridge, Mass., March 18.—A strange epidemic has just struck Harvard university but to date has been confined to members of the Freshman class. The new fad is for the freshmen to adorn their rooms with an assortment of things feminine—women's hats, shoes, veils, jewelry—even "trunks." The decoration takes an artistic form in many cases, one of the most interesting being that of John Sherman Fleck of Newark, Ohio, who is a first year man at Harvard.

NO BOXING IN CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, March 18.—There will be no more legal boxing contests in Cincinnati until after April 18 at least, according to an announcement by Mayor Hunt. The mayor also announced the failure of the liberal policy plan and said that it was being abused.

MAINE TO HOLD
SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

Augusta, Me., March 18.—The Maine legislature will meet in special session Wednesday for the first time since the outbreak of the Civil War. According to Governor Plaisted's proclamation the three purposes of the session are to redistrict the state for Representatives in Congress, to amend the laws governing elections and to propose an amendment to the organic laws which will permit of local option with regard to licensing the selling of intoxicating liquors. The Senate has 22 Democrats and 9 Republicans; the House 85 Democrats and 9 Republicans.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE TO CHEAT THE LAW;
ELECTROCUTED TODAY

Auburn, N. Y., March 18.—Dominico Di Pasquale died in the electric chair today, just one year after his conviction. To the last he fought against his death and in a statement issued by a deputy warden after his death it seems that Pasquale made an attempt to hang himself in his cell a few days ago. Pasquale killed another Italian during a quarrel at a wedding celebration at Rochester, N. Y., on November 13, 1910. During his trial a younger brother took the stand declaring that he had dived the shot.

OATH OF OFFICE
ADMINISTERED TO
MAHLON PITNEY

Washington, March 18.—Mahlon Pitney of New Jersey today took the oath of office, assuming the duties of associate justice of the U. S. supreme court, to succeed the late Justice Harlan.

BRYAN TO SPEAK
FOR THE "DRYS"

Springfield, March 18.—William Jennings Bryan will speak here in the interest of the "drys" on Easter Sunday, April 7. The campaign is to be opened by the dries this week. A series of meetings will be held throughout the county. No date has been set for the election, but it will be held about April 21. The county is dry.

LEGAL NOTICE.

HENRY D. McCracken and his wife, Sarah McCracken, who reside near and whose postoffice address is R. F. D. No. 2, Charleston, Ohio, have taken notice that on the 8th day of February, 1912, Mary J. Daves and Sidna Allen filed in the Court of Common Pleas of Licking County, Ohio, their petition (Case No. 12) for partition of City acres, about being that part of the one hundred acre tract conveyed to them by deed of J. H. McCracken, dated November 14, 1877, and recorded in Vol. 115 of Deeds in the Recorder's Office, said County, page 30, reference to which is made, which lies southwesterly from the point of the running through said one hundred acres, being part of the south half of section number 21, township 1, range 11, U. S. M. lands, in Franklin town ship, said County, making as defendants all the children and next of kin and heirs at law of said deceased, who died seized of said real estate.

The petition sets forth the provisions of the will of Ed McCracken as to the said tract to constitute the provisions of said will as affecting said 50 acre tract and to determine whether the said real estate under said will and codicil to be divided into six equal parts, one to each of the plaintiffs and to each of the defendants, Sarah Rinebold, Oren A. McCracken and Charles C. McCracken, or whether the said real estate is to be divided into five equal parts, one to each of the plaintiffs and the defendant Sarah Rinebold, Oren A. McCracken and Charles C. McCracken, and excluding the said Henry D. McCracken, or if the said real estate is to be divided into four equal parts, one to each of the said plaintiffs and the defendants, Sarah Rinebold and Oren A. McCracken, excluding the said defendants, Henry D. McCracken and Charles C. McCracken.

The plaintiffs pray partition of said real estate in accordance to the interest and proportion of each of the children of Ed McCracken as the same shall be found and determined by the Court and if the said real estate cannot be partitioned by metes and bounds that the same shall be appraised and sold according to law. Said defendants are required to answer said petition, presenting to the attention of the Court their claim as to the proper construction of the will and codicil and the law governing the same on or before the 27th day of April 1912, or judgment will be rendered in accordance with the prayer of the plaintiffs.

corn fodder. At Floyd Allen's the posse found another still. Both were confiscated.

While Floyd Allen was a wounded prisoner in the jail last night, the posse hunting his relatives were guests at his table. Allen's wife and his son's wife prepared a meal for the prosecutors of their husbands, and the 23 men in the party who returned last night declared that they had been treated "right sharp royal."

The Allens are not ordinary desperadoes. They have no ordinary reason for looting farmers' crops, they are among the wealthiest men of the region. They own hundreds of acres of land. They have sent their children to college.

One of them is a "Primitive Baptist" preacher. All in fact, are "Primitive" or as others call them, "Hard-Shell" Baptists. When the meetings known as "Baptist Sociations" have been held in their neighborhood, bringing together persons from scores of miles around, Floyd Allen and Sidna Allen, as the "best livers" of the section, have taken them into their homes and entertained them. No stranger overtook them at night at the home of an Allen could pay for his supper, lodging and breakfast, and come for his beast was as free as the mountain air.

Sidna Allen, who shot Judge Masie, has the second finest home in Carroll county. It is a modern house, a trifle garish in its architecture, but of a type more frequently seen in the rural districts. There is a windmill that constitutes a water plant, there is modern plumbing, bathrooms and the telephone connects with the outside world of progress.

Floyd Allen's home also is a pretentious abode. Sidna's home, across from a general store he owns, may have $15,000 or more.

The Allen despotism is not of the type which usually is associated with the isolated mountain regions. Persons who know Breathitt community and the Hatfield-McCoy troubles discriminate between the Allens and the feudists. The feud is an inter-family affair, handed down from generation to generation. With the Allens there has been no blood animosity. Anybody could get along with an Allen all right by "treating him on the square."

This meant noninterference with an Allen "doing as he pleased."

If a government agent became too inquisitive as to how an Allen acquired his wealth, aside from engaging in agricultural and mercantile pursuits, he was a marked man. All the Allens wanted was to be allowed to mind their own business. If any one gave testimony against them in a court of justice, he was a meddler and it was up to him to get the drop on an Allen the next time he met one.

The result was that it has been next to impossible to get convicting evidence against any of them; the majority of the law-abiding citizens have been so terrorized that they most frequently gave character evidence in favor of the Allens when the latter were arraigned for an alleged crime.

Commonwealth's Attorney Wm. Foster was the first man, it is said, who ever stood up in court and told the whole truth about Floyd Allen. That was last Thursday morning and two days later they buried the body of the commonwealth's attorney, drilled in a half dozen places by the steel jacketed bullets from the weapon of Floyd Allen.

The father of the present elder generation of Allens was a Confederate soldier, fearless and with spirit for fighting that he transmitted to his sons. The old man was a mountain terror in his day.

Garland Allen, a brother of Floyd, is the preacher member of the family. In everyday life he has "toted" his weapons like the rest.

That the murders of last Thursday were planned and were not due to sudden temper is indicated by recent facts.

It is declared that as he entered the court house Thursday, Sidna Allen said to Floyd, "Everything is all right. I see they got no guns." Further indication of preparation for their work is shown in the fact that early in the week the Allens bought up the entire visible supply of ammunition in Carroll county and the city of Pulaski. WOUNDED OUTLAW TAKEN TO ROANOKE FOR SAFEKEEPING

Roanoke, Va., March 18.—Floyd Allen, his son Victor and Byrd Martin, were brought here from Pulaski Sunday morning and put in jail. The authorities thought feeling against the court house assassins was running too high at Pulaski for their safety.

Allen was brought on a cot, with one broken leg in a cast. He was wounded in the other. The prisoners were widely separated in the jail and all outsiders were kept out. This order even extended to the religious workers and there were no services in the jail Sunday.

Young Allen and Martin, both under indictment for murder, protested to their guards that they too, no part in the shooting.

United States Revenue Agents Weaver and Hendricks returned from Hillsville last night. They passed Sidna Allen's house on Thursday afternoon after the shooting and saw him there.

The officers had heard of the tragedy, but did not know Sidna Allen had been implicated in it. They are perhaps the last persons outside of members of the clan to have seen Sidna Allen.

CLIMATE HURTS WEAK LUNGS

In this climate there are always numbers of people whose lungs are weak and who either have a chronic cough or else catch cold easily and are very likely to take pneumonia.

A New York girl, Miss Louise Jessel, has written a letter on this subject, saying: "In the past year I have been troubled with weak lungs and palpitation of the heart. Having heard that Vinol was a great strengthener I began taking it and it has done me a world of good. 'I have no cough now, my heart is all right and I have gained greatly in strength and energy.'"

Naturally as soon as her strength had been built up to the right point by Vinol, all symptoms of her former trouble vanished.

"The delicious cod liver and from remedy without oil, not only cures strength and enriches the blood but always agrees with the stomach."

Get a bottle of Vinol today and begin receiving its curative power. We guarantee it to please you. F. D. Hall, druggist, Newark, Ohio.

IMPORTANT LETTER TO ALL WHO SUFFER

"I suffered from indigestion for a long time. Last May I almost died. The doctor told me it was acute indigestion and I could not be cured. Since that time I have suffered very much, as some days everything I ate, even light food, as soft boiled eggs, would distress me. I lost fifteen pounds. Sometimes I felt that I could not live another day. A month ago I got a box of MI-ONA Tablets. Before I had used them a week I was better. For three years we have been experimenting with "Gas Ranges." And in it we found all that we had been looking for in Gas Range construction. A complete test of 30 of the leading makes of gas ranges showed that the "New Method" gas ranges consumed 25 per cent less gas than any other make. Our test was a severe one. It included the water boiling test, the bread, cake and pie baking test, also several tests of economy, efficiency, durability and convenience. DIRECT CONTACT HEAT BROODERS are already so popular and well-known that it seems almost unnecessary to describe them. The correct brooding principal is direct contact heat, as provided by the long, narrow hover of the "MANDY LEE," applying a soft heat direct to the backs of the chicks, as we realize that the little chicks cannot comfortably breathe the same heat required for giving a comfortable warmth to its body.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

The Keel Boat.
A few minutes later they had separated, George to hurry away in search of the horse, and Carrington to pass back along the shore until he gained a point opposite the clearing. He whistled shrilly three times, and after an interval of waiting heard the splash of oars and presently saw a skiff steal out of the gloom.

"Who's there?" It was Bess who asked the question.
"Carrington," he answered.
"Lucky you ain't met the other nan!" she said as she swept her skirt alongside the bank.

"Lucky for him, you mean. I'll take the oars," added Carrington, as he entered the skiff.

Slowly the clearing lifted out of the darkness, then the keel boat became distinguishable; and Carrington checked the skiff by a backward stroke of the oars.

"Hello!" he called.
There was no immediate answer to his hail, and he called again as he sent the skiff forward. He felt that he was risking all now.

"What do you want?" asked a surly voice.

"You want Slosson?" quickly prompted the girl in a whisper.

"I want to see Slosson!" said Carrington glibly and with confidence, and once more he checked the skiff.

"Who be you?"

"Murrell sent you," prompted the girl again, in a hurried whisper.

"Murrell?" And in his astonishment Carrington spoke aloud.

"Murrell?" cried the voice sharply.

"Who's There?" It was Bess who asked the question.

"—sent me!" said Carrington quickly, as though completing an unfinished sentence. The girl laughed nervously under her breath.

"Row closer!" came the sullen command, and the Kentuckian did as he was bidden. Four men stood in the bow of the keel boat, a lantern was raised aloft and by its light they looked him over. There was a moment's silence broken by Carrington, who asked:

"Which one of you is Slosson?" And he sprang lightly aboard the keel boat.

"I'm Slosson," answered the man with the lantern. The previous night Mr. Slosson had been somewhat under the enlivening and elevating influence of corn whisky, but now he was his own cheerless self, and rather jaded by the passing of the hours which he had sacrificed to an irksome responsibility. "What word do you fetch from the captain, brother?" he demanded.

"Miss Malroy is to be taken down river," responded Carrington.

Slosson swore with surpassing fluency.

"Say, we're five able-bodied men risking our necks to oblige him! You can get married a damn sight easier than this if you go about it right—I've done it lots of times." Not understanding the significance of Slosson's allusion to his own matrimonial career, Carrington held his peace. The tavern-keeper swore again with unimpaired vigor. "You'll find mighty few men with more experience than me," he asserted, shaking his head.

"But if you say the word—"

"I'm all for getting shut of this!" answered Carrington promptly, with a sweep of his arm. "I call these pretty close quarters!"

Still shaking his head and muttering, the tavern-keeper sprang ashore and mounted the bank, where his slouching figure quickly lost itself in the night.

Carrington took up his station on the flat roof of the cabin which filled the stern of the boat. He was remembering that day in the sandy Harony road—and during all the weeks and months that had intervened, Murrell, working in secret, had moved steadily ly toward the fulfillment of his desires! Unquestionably he had been back of the attack on Norton, and the man's sinister and mysterious power had never been suspected. Carrington knew that the horse-thieves and slave stealers were supposed to maintain a loosely knit association; he wondered if Murrell were not the moving spirit in some such organization.

"If I'd only pushed my quarrel with him!" he thought bitterly.

He heard Slosson's shuffling step in the distance, a word or two when he spoke gruffly to some one, and a moment later he saw Betty and the boy, their forms darkly silhouetted against the lighter sky as they moved along the top of the bank. Slosson, without any superfluous gallantry, helped his captives down the slope and aboard the keel boat, where he locked them in the cabin, the door of which fastened with a hasp and wooden peg.

"You're boss now, pardner!" he said, joining Carrington at the steering oar.

"We'll cast off then," answered Carrington.

Thus far nothing had occurred to mar his plans. If they could but quit the bayou before the arrival of the man whose place he had taken the rest would be, if not easy of accomplishment, at least within the realm of the possible.

"I reckon you're a river-man?" observed Slosson.

"All my life."

The line had been cast off, and the crew with their setting poles, were forcing the boat away from the bank. All was quietly done; except for an occasional order from Carrington no word was spoken, and soon the unwieldy craft glided into the sluggish current and gathered way. Mr. Slosson, who clearly regarded his relation to the adventure as being of an official character, continued to stand at Carrington's elbow.

"What have we between here and the river?" inquired the latter. It was best, he felt, not to give Slosson an opportunity to ask questions.

"It narrows considerably, pardner, but it's a straight course," said Slosson.

"Black in yonder, ain't it?" he added, nodding ahead.

The shores drew rapidly together; they were leaving the lake-like expanse behind. In the silence, above the rustling of the trees, Carrington heard the first fret of the river against its bank. Slosson yawned prodigiously.

"I reckon you ain't needing me?" he said.

"Better go up in the bow and get some sleep," advised Carrington, and Slosson, nothing loath, clambered down from the roof of the cabin and stumbled forward.

The ceaseless murmur of the rushing waters grew in the stillness as the keel boat drew nearer the hurrying yellow flood, and the beat of the Kentuckian's pulse quickened. Would he find the raft there? He glanced back over the way they had come. The dark ranks of the forest walled off the clearing, but across the water a dim point of light was visible. He fixed his position as somewhere near the head of the bayou. Apparently it was a lantern, but as he looked a ruddy glow crept up against the skyline.

From the bow Bunker had been observing this singular phenomenon. Suddenly he bent and roused Slosson, who had fallen asleep. The tavern-keeper sprang to his feet and Bunker pointed without speaking.

"Mebby you can tell me what that light back yonder means?" cried Slosson, addressing himself to Carrington; as he spoke he snatched up his rifle.

"That's what I'm trying to make out," answered Carrington.

"Hell!" cried Slosson, and tossed his gun to his shoulder.

What seemed to be a breath of wind lifted a stray lock of Carrington's hair, but his pistol answered Slosson in the same second. He fired at the huddle of men in the bow of the boat and one of them pitched forward with his arms outspread.

"Keep back, you!" he said, and dropped off the cabin roof.

His promptness had bred a momentary panic, then Slosson's bull-like voice began to roar commands; but in that brief instant of surprise and shock Carrington had found and withdrawn the wooden peg that fastened the cabin door. He had scarcely done this when Slosson came tramping aft supported by the three men.

Calling to Betty and Hannibal to escape in the skiff which was towing astern the Kentuckian rushed toward the bow. At his back he heard the door creak on its hinges as it was pushed open by Betty and the boy, and again he called to them to escape by the skiff. The fret of the current had grown steadily and from beneath the wide-spung branches of the trees which here met above his head, Carrington caught sight of the star-specked arch of the heavens beyond. They were issuing from the bayou. He felt the river snatch at the keel boat, the buffeting of some swift eddy, and saw the blunt bow swing off to the south as they were plunged into the black shore shadows.

But what he did not see was a big muscular hand which had thrust itself out of the impenetrable gloom and clutched the side of the keel boat. Coincident with this there arose perfect babel of voices, high-pitched and shrill.

"Sho—I bet it's him! Sho—it's Uncle Bob's nevvie! Sho, you can hear 'em! Sho, they're shootin' guns! Sho!"

He launched himself nimbly and with enthusiasm into the fight.

Carrington cast a hurried glance in the direction of these sounds. There between the boat and the shore the dim outline of a raft was taking shape. It was now canopied by a wealth of pale gray smoke that faded from before his eyes as the darkness lifted.

Turning, he saw Slosson and his men clearly. Surprise and consternation was depicted on each face.

The light increased. From the flat stone hearth of the raft ascended all tall column of flame which rendered visible six pigmy figures, tow-headed and wonderfully vocal, who were toiling like mad at the huge sweeps. The light showed more than this. It showed a lady of plump and pleasing presence smoking a cob-pipe while she fed the fire from a tick stuffed with straw. It showed two bark shanties, a line between them decorated with the never-ending Cavendish wash. It showed a rooster perched on the ridge-pole of one of these shanties in the very act of crowing lustily.

Hannibal, who had climbed to the roof of the cabin, shrieked for help, and Betty added her voice to his.

"All right, Nerry!" came the cheerful reply, as Yancy threw himself over the side of the boat and grappled with Slosson.

"Uncle Bob! Uncle Bob!" cried Hannibal.

Slosson uttered a cry of terror. He had a simple but sincere faith in the supernatural, and even with the Scratch Hiller's big hands gripping his throat, he could not rid himself of the belief that this was the ghost of a murdered man.

"You'll take a dog's licking from me, neighbor," said Yancy grimly. "I been saving it for you!"

Meanwhile Mr. Cavendish, whose proud spirit never greatly inclined him to the practice of peace, had prepared for battle. Springing aloft he knocked his heels together.

"Whoop! I'm a man as can slide down a thorny locust and never get scratched!" he shouted. This was equivalent to setting his triggers; then he launched himself nimbly and with enthusiasm into the thick of the fight. It was Mr. Bunker's unfortunate privilege to sustain the onslaught of the Earl of Lambeth.

The light from the Cavendish hearth continued to brighten the scene, for Polly was recklessly sacrificing her best straw tick. Indeed her behavior was in every way worthy of the noble alliance she had formed. Her cob-pipe was not suffered to go out and with Connie's help she kept the six small Cavendishes from risking life and limb in the keel boat, toward which they were powerfully drawn. Despite these activities she found time to call to Betty and Hannibal on the cabin roof.

"Jump down here; that ain't no fit'n' place for you-all to stop in with them gentlemen fightin'!"

An instant later Betty and Hannibal stood on the raft with the Little Cavendishes noddling about them. Mr. Yancy's quest of his nevvie had taken an enduring hold on their imagination. For weeks it had constituted their one vital topic, and the fight became merely a satisfying background for this interesting restoration.

"Sho, they'd got him! Sho—he wa'n't no bigger than Richard! Sho!"

"Oh!" cried Betty, with a fearful glance toward the keel boat. "Can't you stop them?"

"What for?" asked Polly, opening her black eyes very wide. "Bless yo' tender heart!—you don't need to worry none, we got them strange gentlemen licked like they was a pannel of children! Connie, you-all mind that fire!"

She accurately judged the outcome of the fight. The boat was little better than a shamblies with the havoc that had been wrought there when Yancy and Carrington dropped over its side to the raft. Cavendish followed them, whooping his triumph as he came.

NO SALTS, OIL OR PILLS BUT CASCARETS

No Odds How Sick Your Stomach;
How Hard Your Headaches or
How Bilious—Cascarets
Make You Feel Great

You men and women who somehow can't get feeling right—who have an almost daily headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous, and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out. Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10 cent box from any drug store will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.

MRS. H. T. UPTON TO SPEAK HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

Ohio Leader of Woman's Suffrage To Address Audience in Taylor Hall Tuesday Evening.

Harriet Taylor Upton, president of the Ohio Woman Suffrage association, has earned the distinction of being called the leading suffragist of the state. She has labored unceasingly for more than twenty years to bring about votes for women in Ohio and in the country at large. For many years she was the treasurer of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, and no other one woman has raised as much money for the cause in later years as she. She solicits the money for the Ohio work. She gives her time without compensation. Indeed there are no salaried officers in the Ohio Woman Suffrage Association.

Mrs. Upton is the daughter of Hon. E. B. Taylor, who for thirteen years represented the historic Nineteenth district in congress. Judge Taylor succeeded Garfield in congress. He was chairman of the judiciary committee for several terms and always a member of that committee in congress. He believed in woman suffrage, too, and it was while he was chairman of the judiciary committee that that committee made the only favorable report that has ever been made by it to congress on this question.

Mrs. Upton has been a valued member of the board of education in Warren for ten years and has just been elected president of the board. This shows the confidence which her men colleagues have in her administrative ability.

Mrs. Upton is the author of a history of the Western Reserve of Ohio and a history of Trumbull county. How she contrives to write in addition to all her other duties is a marvel and a mystery even to her closest associates.

Mrs. Upton is a leader because she is always optimistic, always hopeful, always cheerful and good-natured. She takes the knocks which all reformers must expect as a matter of course. She does not know the meaning of the word defeat, consequently she is never defeated. The woman suffrage movement in Ohio is in safe hands.

Mrs. Upton will speak upon this subject tomorrow evening at Taylor hall at 7:30. Whatever are your views you are welcome.

Are Newark women for or against Women's suffrage? See coupon in another column. You are invited to vote now. Names will not be published but numbers for and against will be announced.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

For Bronchitis.
For bronchial troubles and sore throat take equal parts of olive oil, turpentine, spirits of camphor and coal oil. Put into a bottle and shake well before using. Rub on the chest and throat as any other liniment, then wring a flannel cloth out of hot water, double it and apply as hot as can be borne to the chest and throat. Repeat as often as the flannel cools, for a half hour or so.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, who has just resigned from the Government service, is a man of such force of character and independence that administrative red tape doubtless galls him greatly in his desire to be of the greatest service to the public in his long and successful fight in the cause of pure and healthful food or the American public. In his unceasing warfare on all adulterators of food he has won the sincere respect and affection of the people. It is a logical conclusion that he is leaving the federal service because he feels he can better carry on his crusade in behalf of pure food by freeing himself from the restraint of this administration.

NOMINATION OF CONGRESSMAN AND NAT. DELEGATES

Candidates for Congress and candidates for delegates and alternates to national political conventions shall be nominated by direct vote of the people. Each candidate for these positions shall, not less than 30 days before the primary election of May 21, file with the chief deputy supervisor of the most populous county of the district, according to the last federal census, a petition signed by two per cent of the votes cast in the district for the candidate for Governor of his party at the last general election.

In the Seventeenth Congressional district, composed of the counties of Coshocton, Holmes, Licking, Tuscarawas and Wayne, the most populous county is Tuscarawas, and the number of signatures required for the Democratic petitions in the district is 304.

In 1901 the Trusts and railroads of the country were capitalized at $3,754,000,000. In 1909 the capitalization was $31,672,000,000. This is La Follette's comment on the Trust-busting record of Theodore Roosevelt. The Trusts were expanded all right under Teddy, instead of being "busted," and that is the real truth about his record.

The New York Tribune at last makes damaging exposure about broken rails and the terrible wrecks of trains that have recently caused such an enormous loss of human life. These are the rails that are so highly "protected." But is it not about time that the people should be protected against the makers and users of protected rails?

SAVING THE COUNTRY.

Though low and humble is my station, I'll help to save this ailing nation. I won't stir up a revolution by means of frenzied eloquence, or load myself with facts and labor to bring conviction to my neighbor, or on the streets do verbal capers, or write long letters to the papers. I'll do my task appointed daily, and do it cheerfully and gayly; I'll waste no time in idle ravings, but carry to the bank my savings, and pay my bills when they're presented and wear a snug, serene, contented smile. I'll keep my shack supplied with bacon, and waste no precious hours in quaking or fretting, and dare that threaten, my little bungalow forgettin'. Some patriots, on sidewalks sitting, may watch me tending to my knitting, and say I'm full of sordid notions, incapable of high emotions. I ought to spend the day a-yelling, the loud and blatant chorus swelling; I ought to whoop for Bill, already, or bust a gallus for our Teddy, but I'll keep around the harder and rustle for my private ladder, for that's one way to save the nation that should receive your admiration.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

By O. Terrence.
ANNA HELD, 35 TODAY; WOULD YOU BELIEVE IT?

Anna Held, the actress lady, who just can't make her eyes behave, is today celebrating her 35th birthday. Would you believe it? Faith, neither would I. There is in existence a book of biographies of stage folk which says that Anna was born in 1873, which would make her 39 today, but anybody who has seen Anna would know that to be a libel. Besides the work was published several years ago, and hence isn't an up-to-date authority on the ages of ladies.

Anna was, of course, born in Paris. Her papa was a French glove-maker, and her mamma a Pole. Pere Maurice Held hadn't much of a business head and when Anna was a little infant, the glove business went to smash. Pere Maurice and Mere Helene then started a small cafe, but that also was a management. (Och, an' ain't I the Frenchy?) So petite Anna went to work in a feather shop after school hours, cleaning and curling the plumes that the fine ladies displayed along the boulevards. Then and there Anna decided that some day she, too, would wear fine feathers and parade along the boulevards.

Anna was the youngest of six children born to the Helds, the others having died in infancy. Biographers have often alleged that she was born in Alsace-Lorraine, and one recent newspaper story gave Lafayette, Ind., as the place of her arrival in the world—but, Voila! It is faussement. Is not Paris the only place to be born in?

Butterflies and fur caps were the next objects of Anna's industry. While thus employed she lived with her mother in a little room adjoining the Princess theatre, in London, where they had gone after the death of Pere Held. Her singing attracted

DO WOMEN READERS OF ADVOCATE FAVOR OR OPPOSE EQUAL SUFFRAGE?

Are the women of Newark for or against woman's suffrage? The most potent argument against granting women the right to vote is the fact that many women do not want the privilege of the ballot.

Regardless of the question as to whether conditions would improve if all the women should take an interest in politics and go to the polls at the primary and on election day, are the women of Ohio ready for the ballot? Do they want it? Will they exercise the right of franchise if it is given them? The Advocate recently published interviews with the presidents of the Newark women's clubs. A majority opposed woman's suffrage.

How do the women readers of the Advocate stand on the proposition of woman's suffrage which will be put up to the men voters of Ohio when it comes to voting on the revised and amended constitution this year?

The constitutional doctors have included equal, or woman's suffrage in the propositions that are to be voted on, but only the now qualified electors, male citizens 21 or over, are to vote on the question—the women have no part or share in it.

What the Advocate would like to know is how its women readers stand on the question. Do you favor or oppose the ballot for women? The Advocate is going to give all of its women readers who have attained voting age—21 years—an opportunity to go on record, either for or against woman's suffrage.

Keep out of this, you men—it is none of your affair. We don't care how you stand on the proposition, but we do want an expression from the women themselves.

Make use of the following ballot, marking it as you would mark a regular ballot, placing an X mark to the left of the proposition you favor. Write your name and address on the ballot as an evidence of good faith (no names will be published) and send or mail the ballots to the Advocate office, or hand the same to the Advocate carriers, by whom they will be delivered.

Of course but one vote from each woman is wanted. The ballot will be published three days, beginning Wednesday, March 20, and the result—all votes received by noon, Saturday, March 23 will be published in the Advocate of that date.

parlor is a wee room, hardly as large as the bedroom of a New York flat and in this tiny place Grover Cleveland was born. This room is now almost bare, and into one wall is set a large bronze tablet, placed there five years ago today by Dean Andrew F. West of Princeton, President John F. Finley of the College of the City of New York, and the late Richard Watson Gilder, the poet. Besides these two rooms, the first floor of the Cleveland birthplace includes a dining room, a kitchen and a very small study, where Cleveland's father was wont to prepare his sermons. The second floor contains several bedrooms. A little veranda, which in summer is screened with vines, opens off the dining room. The house originally cost about $1,400 and was considered almost palatial in its time—considered as the home of a minister, who in those days was supposed to be able to put up with anything. From the time it was built, with the exception of a few years, the old manse has been occupied by ministers and their families, but Cleveland's father occupied it longer than any other. Richard C. Cleveland, the older brother of the President, and Margaret Louisa Foley, his younger sister, were also born there.

In 1884 Cleveland wrote to Dr. Berry, then the rector of the Caldwell church and the occupant of the manse: "I can sincerely say the spot is dear to me, as the place of his birth should be dear to every man. When I remember that there my sainted parents had their home, and there my goodly father wrought and struggled in his Heavenly Father's mission, the place seems to me hallowed and sacred."

Today is St. Joseph's Day, and will be observed in Rome as the name day of Pope Pius, his name before he became Pontiff being Giuseppe Sarro. It is the custom of the Pope on his name day to receive the Cardinals, the members of the Vatican household, and the commanders of the Papal troops.

Today is the anniversary of the birth of John C. Calhoun, the American statesman in 1782, of Samuel Hunt, famous clergyman, in 1810, and of the Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll, in 1848.

Pleasing Concert of the Welsh Choir Sunday Afternoon

The Royal Welsh choir gave the second of their delightful concerts at the First Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon. The large auditorium of the church was filled with people and a beautiful sacred concert was given.

The program was divided into two parts and was made up of choir numbers, solos, duos and quartets. An offering was taken and the donations were most liberal. The choir while in Newark won many admirers by the excellence of their ability.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY INAUGURATED BY SPRING WEATHER

St. Patrick's day was an ideal one for the "wearin' of the green" and the streets were thronged with pedestrians bravely bearing the colors dear to the hearts of those who claim allegiance with the Emerald Isle.

Sunday was really the first spring day and as the day advanced the temperature kept rising until at 1:30 o'clock the thermometer registered above 60 degrees. With the warmth the owners of autos had them on the streets for the first time since the heavy snows began to fall and vehicles of every sort were to be seen about the city and in the suburbs.

It seems that the long winter has broken now and that we will soon suffer with the lassitude of spring.

DO YOU KNOW?

That the city of Newark, with 30,000 inhabitants and millions of dollars worth of property, is protected by a fire department of but 23 men; that these men are on duty 24 hours each day with but one day off in eight; that five trucks compose the equipment, that the four hose trucks carry 1,000 feet of hose each; that the fire alarm system consists of 29 boxes; that but a little more than 1-6 of the alarms in a year are turned in from the boxes, most of them being received by phone.

CIVIC CENTER MEETING FOR WEST NEWARK

There will be a meeting of the citizens of West Newark at the school building, Room No. 1, on Wednesday at 3:30 in the interest of "Clean-up Day," and general civic improvement. Are you interested in having our part of the city the most beautiful as well as the cleanest part of the city? Come and manifest your interest by being ready to help push a righteous cause—cleanliness. This means you, reader.

FIRST THINGS

Inoculation to prevent smallpox, although it had long been practiced in the East, was first tried on a person of English birth 194 years today, when Lady Mary Wortley Montagu, then at Belgrade, had her infant son inoculated with smallpox serum. Later she attempted to introduce the treatment in England, but her missionary efforts were not well received, and inoculation had to make its way against deep-seated prejudices of both physicians and laymen. Much obloquy was visited upon Lady Mary, but inoculation grew slowly in favor, until superseded by vaccination, introduced by Jenner and Dr. Woodville in 1799.

Today is the 250th anniversary of the establishment of the first public omnibus system in Paris, which was also the first in the world. Eleven coaches were placed in commission on March 18, 1662, and a fare of 3 cents was charged.

Don't think that piles can't be cured. Thousands of obstinate cases have been cured by Doan's Ointment 50 cents at any drug store.

S.S.S. NATURE'S TONIC

The very great majority of persons need a tonic in the Spring or early Summer. The system undergoes a change at this season and the entire physical machinery is disturbed. The general bodily weakness, a tired, worn-out feeling, fickle appetite, poor digestion, a half sick feeling and a general run-down condition of the system, show that the blood is weak or anemic, and a blood purifying tonic is needed to build up the deranged system and enrich the blood. The use of S. S. S. at this time may save you from a long spell of sickness, and it will certainly prepare you for the long, hot Summer. Many people have put off using a tonic until the system became so weakened and depleted it could not successfully throw off disease germs, and have paid for the neglect with a spell of fever, malaria or some other debilitating sickness. S. S. S. is Nature's ideal tonic. It is a composition of the extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks which science and experience have proven are best fitted for a tonic to the human system. It contains no minerals of any kind and is therefore perfectly safe for persons of any age. S. S. S. tones up the stomach and digestion, rids the system of that tired, worn-out feeling, and imparts vigor and strength to every part of the body. It purifies and enriches the blood, stimulates the secreting and excreting members to better action, quiets the overstrained nerves, and makes one feel better in every way.

The Poinsettia Embroidery club was very pleasantly entertained Friday afternoon by Mrs. Arthur G. Davis of North Fourth street. After the sewing a delicious luncheon was served to the members and guest Miss Edna Wilson. Mrs. Fred E. Ryan of Elmwood avenue will be hostess to the club March 22nd.

The annual convention of the Ohio province of the Phi Sigma Chi fraternity will be held here April 11 and 12. During the two days there will be business sessions and a banquet and dance. The meetings will be held under the auspices of the Newark chapter of the fraternity and promises to be a social event of importance.

The Busy Bee Embroidery club met at the home of Miss Bernice Marple Friday afternoon at her home north of Chatham. The time was spent in needle work and several piano selections were rendered by Miss Gertrude Price and Miss Bernice Marple. A delicious repast was served the members and guests. The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Cora Edmund, March 29.

One of the most enjoyable events of the season was the banquet given by the Secret Sewing circle at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Beall, six miles southeast of Newark, last Tuesday evening. The most important feature of the evening was the delicious supper. The table bore the color scheme of pink and white, being effected by a huge bouquet of pink and white carnations and the guests were seated by hand-painted place cards, the work of the president, Mrs. Fred C. Orr.

Those present were as follows: Messrs. and Mesdames Arthur Sherman, Leon C. Wolfe, Fred C. Orr, Bert Watson, William Beall, Misses Clara Taylor, Florence Dushimer, Florence Beall, Maggie Taylor, Esther Hartshorn, Anna Osburn, Mae Stevens, Hazel Taylor, Maude Parr, Alice Osburn, Winona Beall, Edna Wolfe, and Messrs. Herbert Courson, Roy Beall, Leaten Tavener, Fred Stevens and John Beall.

Mrs. Maud Howarth and John Patterson of this city, attended the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Patterson at their home near Steubenville last week. The seven children living were all present except Mrs. John Purcell of New York. The grandchildren numbered 16, and there was present one great grandchild, Dorothy Howarth.

The following account of the large reception given by Mrs. S. D. Safford and Miss Dora Safford of Rockford, Ill., out of compliment of Mrs. G. N. Safford, formerly Mrs. Lydia N. Pierson, will be of great interest to her many friends here. The account of the reception is taken from the Rockford Republic of March 14: Nearly a hundred and fifty guests attended the reception given by Mrs. S. D. Safford and Miss Dora Safford at the home at 511 South Second street Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. George Norman Safford. Cards for this happy event were issued some days ago and the anticipations of the invited guests were pleasantly realized from 2 to 6 o'clock.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. S. D. Safford, Miss Dora Safford and Mrs. George Norman Safford. The ladies who assisted in entertaining in the parlors were Mrs. B. J. Channey, Miss Gracia Norton, Mrs. Carlos Blackman, Mrs. A. Hermance, and Mrs. George Gregory.

Those who assisted in the serving in the dining room were Mrs. J. L. Clark, Mrs. Ella Root, Miss Frances Potter, Mrs. Oliver Drake, Mrs. S. J. Leonard and Mrs. D. Lety.

A bit of the coming springtime had been captured by the hostesses and was scattered through the home. Yellow daffodils gave an added beauty to the dining room, tulips graced the back parlors, and pink carnations gave their charm and perfume to the front parlors.

Friday afternoon at the same hours a second reception will be held at the home at which the same number of other guests will be entertained by Mrs. Safford and Miss Safford for Mrs. G. N. Safford. The decorations will be the same as today.

Those who will help entertain in the parlors Friday are Mrs. Helen Revelle,

HEART AND HOME TALKS

Some Helps For Housekeepers.

A CERTAIN woman had used a gas range for all her cooking for some years. But she never thought to slip a newspaper over the drip-pan under the burners until a friend told her to do so. She had carefully scrubbed this drip-pan every morning, for food will boil over or get spilled, and the drip-pan always seemed to be dirty. Now she simply slips the newspaper out and burns it. And she doesn't need to scrub the pan oftener than once a week, sometimes not even then, unless a genuine catastrophe has happened.

Newspapers are very useful things anyway about a kitchen. If you cook with a fire that smuts, if you will rub the bottom of the pan or pot with paper, nearly all the smut can be rubbed off. And this is much easier than washing it off, and having pan and dishcloth black.

If greasy pans and pots are wiped out with pieces of newspaper before washing, their washing will be easier.

Soft muslin covers that can be quickly fastened over brooms or long handled brushes, for wiping up hard wood floors, or cleaning walls or curtains are time-savers. If these are made so they can be fastened quickly and securely, they are more economical of time, in the long run, than is the piece of old cloth that is tied on over the broom or brush haphazard. This is continually coming off, and not being made to fit, doesn't half do its work. If the cover that is used for wiping up the floor is dipped in kerosene oil and thoroughly wrung out, it takes up the dust better and makes the floors look brighter.

If potatoes are boiled before frying, boil them with the jackets on. After boiling, the jackets can be taken off with less waste and more quickly than can the potatoes be peeled before boiling.

If you will rub the gas-range while it is hot with a piece of soft cloth or old newspaper, the range will always be clean. Keep handy a rag that will absorb grease, or a piece of newspaper, and once a day when the range is warm, wipe it off, and it will be bright and clean, and only need a general overhauling now and then. For this general overhauling, wipe off the grease and dirt with a cloth that has been dipped in paraffin oil, and clean out the holes in the burners with a hatpin or some such instrument.

You can save some of the labor of ironing by placing the sheets folded on your ironing board, and ironing other plain things on them. The hems of the sheets may need ironing, but the rest of the sheet has been ironed by proxy.

If the housekeeper who wants to make the asparagus "go" as far as possible, will cut the stalks into small lengths and put the hard portions into a steamer well in advance of the tips and softer parts, she will find that these hard portions will become as tender as string beans, and that every bit of the asparagus can be eaten.

Those ladies who will assist in the dining room Friday are Mrs. F. L. Cleveland, Mrs. Howard Gregory, Mrs. M. M. Carpenter, Mrs. A. C. Horton, Mrs. B. A. Slade, and Miss Beula Johnson.

Mrs. Lawrence Turner will entertain the members of the Sesame Sewing club at her home in Park avenue on Wednesday afternoon.

The Review club had for hostess on Saturday afternoon Miss Anne Wotring. The following program was given from the calendar:

Quotations—Miss Anne Wotring. Landscape Gardening—Leader, Miss Wotring. The Return to the Soil—Mrs. T. M. Edmiston. Reading—Mrs. Ida Chase.

The Monday Talks is entertaining with a musical this afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Davis in Hudson avenue.

Miss May Van Horn delightfully entertained the members of the Research club at her home in Hudson avenue and the following interesting program was given:

Quotations, Impression from Recent Readings—The Club. Paper, "A Fighting Chance for the City Child"—Miss McDonald. "As You Like It"—Act II and III. Readers—Miss Vance, Miss Scott, Mrs. Randolph, Mrs. Wilson and Miss Owen. Critic—Mrs. McMillen.

Are the women of Newark in favor of or opposed to equal suffrage? In another column of this paper may be found a coupon. Women readers are invited to use the coupon to express their position. Names will not be published but numbers will be announced. The Advocate would like to know whether women are for or against equal suffrage. Please use the coupon now.

Mrs. Abram Miller of West Church street entertained with a dinner party on Sunday for her little granddaughter, Katherine Elizabeth Miller, who celebrated her seventh birthday anniversary. The table was prettily arranged with decorations of green. The dinner favors were in green and a huge birthday cake lighted with candles formed the centerpiece. Covers were laid for the members of the family and two guests Miss Julia B. Smith and Martha Lee Smith.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Wonderful Child of the Thundercloud

Delighted, He Picked It Up.

THE lesson in school had been about Japan, and Jack and Evelyn asked daddy to tell them a story about the little island country.

"It will be a fairy tale then which Japanese daddies often tell their little ones as they sit out at evenings beside the doors of their straw cottages and see the rice growing in the little fields above which rise the beautiful mountains which all Japanese love, the stately Fuji Xama," said daddy.

"Once upon a time, say the Japanese, there lived in one of their valleys a good couple, who, after spending their lives in hard work, were growing old without having earned enough to keep them when they should no longer be able to toil.

"One day the old man was hoeing his field when a thunder storm gathered. It was only when the rain began to pitter down heavily that he stopped his work. Just as he turned to the house there came a terrible crash of thunder and a bolt of lightning seemed to strike the ground directly in front of him. When the cloud of dust had cleared away the old man was amazed to see lying on the ground a dear little boy checked child.

"Delighted, he picked it up and ran to the cottage, crying:

"See, wife, what the storm has left us!"

"His wife was not less pleased than he was, and the little one grew up in their home tenderly loved and cared for.

"He was a wonderfully good boy. He never cared to run about and play with the other children, but followed his adopted father about the fields trying his tiny best to help.

"And though they had been so very poor before, now everything seemed to come their way. They were pointed out as the luckiest people in that part of Japan. When their dear boy was eighteen years old they made a birthday feast for him, but although the old couple were now rich enough to feed the whole country if they had wished, the lad asked that the feast be just for themselves.

"When it was over, he rose and said:

"Dear parents, you have made me very happy, but I am, as you know, not your child, but the child of the thunder, and the time has come when I must go back to my own. May you always be happy as kind hearts deserve to be."

"And then where he had stood was a little white mist that floated out of the door and grew and grew until it was a tiny cloud before it reached the top of the mountain, where it melted into another snowy white cloud."

Why Rent a Piano

When you can purchase one of the high grade Washburn Pianos at a dollar a week, by joining the club? It is warranted by Lyon & Healy, unlimited, whose name is unquestioned from coast to coast. Exhibit Parlors, 64 N. Fourth St. 15-13

Civic Improvement Meeting.
Civic improvement meetings have been held in East and North Newark, and on next Tuesday afternoon a meeting will be held at 3 o'clock at the South Fifth street school building, in Miss Murphy's room. This is the first meeting of the kind to be held in South Newark, and all interested are asked to be present. 15-13

Honest Piano Methods.
If you have an ARTISTIC made piano, advertise the NAME and PRICE. The LYON & HEALY model of "X" is $400. The HIGH GRADE of "X" is $450. This grade is the WASHBURN, at $300. The "Merrill" is $218, and the best piano sold at its price below this is the Keller & Sons' (made in New York) at $162.50. Why should you invest in a (so-called) "slightly used" piano, which is "much abused," when a better grade can be bought new at above ONE PRICE values. T. W. Leah, Exhibit Parlors, 64 N. Fourth street. 15-13

Democratic State Committee.
A meeting of the Democratic state committee is called for Tuesday, March 19, to arrange for the state convention and other matters. Will Surrender Charter.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Jackson Oil & Gas Company will be held at Junction City on April 19 for the purpose of closing the business of the company and surrendering the charter. There are many stockholders of the Jackson in Newark.

Boothblack Who Advertises.
"Cal" is a boothblack who believes in advertising, and he gets the business. Yesterday he displayed in the window of the shop where he is employed a large newspaper bulletin announcing the capture of a "strange animal," which is placed on exhibition. Incidentally he adds to the bulletin: "Come in and get your shoes shined and Cal will tell you all about it."

Leaves the Sanitarium.
J. L. Weaver of Anderson Court, a B. & O. employee who was injured in the yards a week ago Sunday, has been dismissed from the Sanitarium and is rapidly recovering. Mr. Weaver was weighing cars with a crew when he was struck by a car. He fell along the track and one hand was thrown under the wheels of the train. The middle, ring and little fingers of his right hand were crushed and had to be amputated.

Civic Improvement.
Superintendent of Public Schools Wilson Hawkins has asked the teachers to instruct their pupils to prepare to write a short composition on Civic Improvement. The boys and girls are asked to suggest something

Quarter Century Ago.

(From Advocate, Mar. 18, 1887.)

Francis Doyle, who has charge of the valve and gauge adjusting department at the B. & O. round house had the misfortune to slip and sprain his ankle.

Messrs. Warren Welant, D. M. Black, of the firm of Brown & Black, Dr. Priest, George Rice and Mr. Cherry of the Globe shoe store, went to Columbus this morning.

Mr. W. W. Rowan of Jackson, Mich., police officer, was called here by the death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary Cain, and by the serious illness of his wife's sister, Miss Tillie Cain of Outville.

The ladies of Trinity church gave a delightful social at the residence of Mr. Henry Sprague, in First street.

Fifty Years Ago Today.

The Confederate gunboat fleet on the Mississippi river attacked the Federals at New Madrid, Mo. They were repulsed by General Pope's land batteries and Flag Officer Foote's ironclads. The advance guard of the Federal Army of the Potomac sailed from Alexandria for the Yorktown peninsula.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today.

for the improvement of Newark, but will not write their compositions until after the civic improvement lectures at the high school auditorium next Friday afternoon and evening. The essays must be written in school. The teachers will select the best compositions for submission to the superintendent, who in turn will select 15 or 20 of the best for publication in the local papers.

Much Improved.
Mrs. George Cousino of Columbia street, who has been seriously ill for several weeks, is much improved.

Woman's Guild.
The First Division, Woman's Guild of the First M. E. church, will meet with Mrs. Edward First Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock.

Taken to City Hospital.
Mrs. W. E. Broome, wife of Engineer Broome of 328 Hudson avenue, who has been ill for the past nine months, has been removed to the City Hospital.

Attention Drum Corps.
All members of the Old Guard Drum Corps are requested to be present at meeting tonight at Memorial Hall at 7:30 o'clock. Bring instruments for practice. All members positively must be present.

Mrs. Upton is Coming.
The Equal Suffrage Committee of Newark has succeeded in bringing to the city Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, president of the Ohio Equal Suffrage Association. Mrs. Upton is president of the Board of Education at Warren, Ohio. Mrs. Upton will speak at Taylor Hall Tuesday evening, March 19, at 7:30 o'clock.

Able To Be Out.
Warner J. Devore of the Newark Automatic Telephone Company, who has been ill at his home in Mt. Vernon for the past nine weeks, was in Newark today for a short time. Mr. Devore is much improved, though he is still weak from the effects of the long illness. He expects to return to work about April 1.

Sidewalk Notices.
William Sasser started out Monday morning on a stupendous task. Upon him falls the responsibility of serving the hundreds of notices of the passage of legislation to lay sidewalks. Each property owner on the streets ordered improved, must be served with a notice and with the many streets provided for by resolution, the task is a big one. It will require several weeks to serve all the notices.

Council Meeting Tonight.
The regular meeting of the city council will be held tonight. Little business had been turned into the hopper at the clerk's office up to noon. The street committee has an elaborate report to submit on matters referred to them and in all probability two resolutions, one to pave Granville street and another to construct a sewer, both from Eleventh to Sixteenth street, will be introduced.

The plans and specifications for both these improvements have been completed by the city engineer.

Sprained Ankle.
Sydney Smith of Spencer street is confined to his home with a sprained ankle.

Announce Birth.
Mr. and Mrs. Vandailla Brill of Cedar street, are the proud parents of a 12 pound boy. Mr. Brill is a B. & O. employee and is handing his friends cigar today.

Deaths Since January 1.
Up to date 135 deaths have been registered at the office of the local health officer, as having occurred in Newark and four adjoining townships since the first of January, 1912.

To Take Treatment.
Mrs. Sarah E. Phifer of Front street has entered the Sanitarium, where she will take electric treatments for sciatic rheumatism. Mrs. Phifer has been in since the middle of February.

Cleaned the Streets.
The force of men from the street cleaning department of the city cleaned the streets downtown Monday morning, this being the first real cleaning they have had this year. The pavements have been flushed several times but none of the dirt was ever removed.

Streets Were Flooded.
A fire hydrant at Fifth and Hoover streets burst yesterday and flooded the street. It is believed that the water main leading to the hydrant froze during the cold snap in January and February and just thawed out. The repair gang from the waterworks department made repairs today.

THE FIELD AGAINST WILSON?

Supporters of New Jersey Governor Say Other Candidates Have Committed to Beat Him—Works Favors Six Year Term—Photographing the President Without Archie Butt.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, March 18.—[Special].—While there are a great many men talking politics who are absolutely sure that they can tell who will be nominated by the Republicans and who will be nominated by the Democrats and then go one step further and tell who will be elected, there are very few who are willing to back up their "know it all" statements with cash bets. "Money talks" in politics as well as in sports, but just at present it is being used to talk for a lot of candidates in both parties instead of being placed as bets.

The fact is that predictions in politics are very likely to be upset. For instance, every close friend of Roosevelt was certain for a long time that under no circumstances would he enter the race. A few months ago any one who talked about Underwood as a Democratic possibility would have been laughed to scorn. A lot of queer things are constantly happening in politics.

"Everybody Fighting Woodrow." Constantly the Woodrow Wilson press bureau reiterates the statement that everybody in the Democratic race has combined against the New Jersey candidate. First thing we know they will be singing to the tune "Everybody Works But Father" the words "Everybody Fighting Woodrow." Just how much there is in the claim no one can tell.

No doubt there is a friendly feeling between the Harmon and Underwood men. Perhaps many of the supporters of both would be satisfied with either, but it is very hard to see where the Clark men can have any alliance with the supporters of Underwood and Harmon. If Underwood was not in the race it would look like pretty fair sailing for the speaker. The Alabama man's candidacy may serve to defeat Clark.

Six Year Term. Senator Works, a progressive, in advocating a six year term for president said that if we would amend the constitution so as to provide such a limitation we would not see an administration going about the country soliciting re-election and using power and patronage to re-elect itself. There are people who go a step further and say that an administration ought not to use its power to name its favorite choice for president.

The fact is that President Taft is no more active now to secure his re-election than was Roosevelt four years ago in his effort to name Taft as his successor. The six year term would not keep an administration from "mixing in" when the time came to do things, especially if a man like Roosevelt was at the head of it. He just loves to "do things."

Remarkable Pictures. A Washington photographer says he is going to put out a series of remarkable pictures very soon. They will be pictures of President Taft without Major Archie Butt. You can scarcely get a snapshot picture of the president without Major Butt standing in the offing with downcast eyes, showing how sure he is that the photographer is about to press the button. Major Butt is the most photographed man in the army. As he is always in uniform he is even more conspicuous than the president in these pictures.

Shocking the Senate. It's a good thing Hale of Maine is no longer in the senate, for he would have several kinds of fits each day the way these new senators perform, but he would not sit still and look pained. He would call them down. The "elder statesman" now just look around like the woman at bridge when her partner makes a misplay as much as to say, "Did you ever?" Only the other day Hoke Smith of Georgia rose to address the senate with a pencil stuck up over his right ear. It's pretty tough on those sticklers for tradition, this lack of senatorial dignity displayed by new senators.

The Southern Favorite. Unless congress intervenes the 200 year old mansion, home of Francis Scott Key, one of the historic homes remaining in Washington, will soon be destroyed. When the Memorial association which is directing sentiment toward its preservation sent its representative to Senator Martin of Virginia, one of the members of the district committee, he asked who Francis Scott Key was that his home should be so preserved.

"Why, senator," said the visitor, "he is the man who wrote the 'Star Spangled Banner.'"

"A mighty poor reason," said Senator Martin. "Now, if he had written 'Dixie' I might be more interested, but I never could whistle 'The Star Spangled Banner.'"

But he promised to take the matter under advisement.

"The Daily Papers Offer Me The Richest Field For My Ideas"---Says Charles Klein, Author of "The Gamblers"

"In Them," Says the Author of "The Music Master," and "The Lion and the Mouse," "I Find The Story of Human Emotions Told in Countless Ways Every Day---Sometimes There is But a Hint and Sometimes in The Record of a Crime There is The Whole Gamut of Human Passion."

THE task of filling the box-office with dollars is the greatest handicap the author who wishes to write a really good play has to overcome. It sounds a bit paradoxical at first, but it is the opinion of Charles Klein, who is accounted by critics and playgoers as one of the greatest of American playwrights. And he is credited, also, with having plentifully filled the box-offices with American dollars.

The author of "The Music Master," "The Lion and the Mouse," "The Gamblers" and a score of other almost equally famous American plays, however, sets for himself a standard for a really great play, higher, perhaps, than the majority of critics of the drama set. He asks for more than the approval of the contemporaneous critics. He insists that the test of a play rests with posterity and, of course, posterity is yet to pass upon any of Mr. Klein's plays.

When one is so fortunate as to penetrate into Mr. Klein's private office he finds a most cordial welcome awaiting him. Mr. Klein, who is a little past middle age, is the very embodiment of courtesy and smiling good nature. Were it not for his eyes one might be pardoned for believing him to be anything but the serious student of sociological and psychological conditions he has shown himself to be in his dramas.

"Mr. Klein, how do you write a great play?" Surely the question was broad enough. The mere fact that struggling authors had been seeking for centuries to learn the true receipt for writing a great play did not encourage the questioner. But the acknowledged author of several great plays was not ready with an answer.

"I don't believe I know. Neither do I believe any man when he is writing a play can know whether it will be great or not," Mr. Klein finally replied. "A great play, I believe, must be prophetic, and, moreover, can only be judged in the perspective. There isn't a season," continued Mr. Klein, "that any number of excellent plays are not produced. Some of them run for many seasons. Yet, I am frank to say, I doubt much whether those same plays, if produced fifty years hence would arouse a ripple of applause. And the reason rests with the box-office."

"People who love to point to this country as a great democratic institution hate to acknowledge it, but the truth of the matter is that class distinction is growing stronger in this country every year. The time when we shall have an aristocracy, a middle-class and a working class, is not far distant. To-day the author who wants to insure to his manager a successful production from the standpoint of dollars and cents has only to treat of that changing condition. If he handles that question in a verile way he is pretty sure to score a success. Moreover, he has probably written an excellent play. His technique has been perfect, his idea has been appealing, and the dollars have just rolled into the box-office. But it is not at all certain that he has written a great play. In fact, he probably has not."

"And the reason?" "Simply that fifty years hence conditions in this country will have become settled. Class distinctions will probably have been crystallized. There will no longer be the problem of which he has written so powerfully, so his play will fail to grip the emotions. That is what I meant when I said the necessity of filling the box-office with money precluded the idea of writing a great play. The author of to-day must write of conditions as they exist to-day, and of things in which the public of to-day is interested."

"Would you say, then, Mr. Klein, that no great plays are written to-day?" "By no means," was the reply. "Secret service," "Jim the Penman" and "The Dolls House," all of them I consider great plays."

"Do you think you could write a great play around the recent political upheaval in the country?" "Not unless I introduced some other elements," replied Mr. Klein, a trifle more promptly than was his wont. "I can answer that question promptly, because I have learned from experience that the public, when it comes right down to a final analysis, cares very little about the success or defeat of a political party, so far as its theatre is concerned. If, however, I can introduce a little sentiment and a bit of romance into a political situation, why, then I have a different matter with which to deal."

"Just to illustrate—and any author is quite welcome to the idea if he likes it—suppose between the two leaders of rival political parties there is a woman. She is to marry one, but her sentiments are with the ideas advocated by the other. Spurred by devotion to her principles, she begs her intended husband to withdraw, and he prefers to sacrifice the man rather than lose the struggle. For me about the richest field for ideas such a political situation. And the author would have the opportunity to expound his own political ideas. "That, however, is the only way an author can preach to his audience. "When he introduces the personal equation and centres the interest upon the characters themselves he can sow the seeds of his own thoughts."

"Is it your idea, then, that a woman should be the central figure in every great play?" "On the contrary she should never be the instant response. "It is easier to write plays for ten men than for one woman."

"Why?" "Well, a man can do ten things to one that a woman can do. If the hero of your drama does an act for revenge it is mainly if the heroine does the same thing it is "catty." We have placed our woman on a plane where they must, unless they sacrifice themselves in our esteem, be passive rather than active. I can't conceive of any way that one might write a serious drama about a suffragette. "It is about as difficult to write a strong play around a woman as it is to write a comedy. In a comedy you have to subvert the interest entirely by invented situations. There is no strong motive back of a comedy, as there is in a serious drama."

"Do you think the public want to have the truth presented to them when they go to the theatre?" "Well," said Mr. Klein, slowly, "you can't write a strong, successful play unless it is founded upon the fundamental truths and emotions; but you have got to sugarcoat those truths so that the audience will not suspect them to be truths at all. The minute you give your hearers nothing but the truth you are accused of preaching, and the moment such an accusation is made against you—well," And Mr. Klein shrugged his shoulders expressively.

"Would you rather write a play for an American audience or an English one?" "The question was unfortunate. Mr. Klein had been growing more and more enthusiastic in his talk of what really constituted a great play. Then the specter of a huge iceberg seemed to loom upon the horizon and voluntarily Mr. Klein shuddered.

"I have had four successful American plays produced in London," said Mr. Klein, his voice unconsciously assuming the note of one discussing a most unpleasant affair, "and I have four nicely polished slabs handsomely engraved, one for each play, standing silently in the already overpopulated cemetery for failures they maintain over there. It isn't a question of whom would rather work for it seems to be an incontrovertible fact that I simply can't write a play for an English audience."

"The disinterested man has no trouble whatever to find the reason. The plays, from an English standpoint, weren't any good. I find the least bit of consolation, however, in my own mind, that the English people are so self-repressed that they simply can't appreciate a good, live, emotion-stirring play. Through centuries of cultivation they have succeeded in stifling their emotions, or at least the outward display of them. They don't consider it good form for society to show emotion at any time. Mental but, as I might possibly want to write another play abroad, I think I had better say no more on the subject."

"Where do you get your ideas for new plays?" queried the interviewer, who felt no delicacy whatever about exploring the playwright's treasurehouse.

"Why, I have no private wires to any secret stock of ideas," answered Mr. Klein, readily. "The newspapers of

"EVERY LITTLE OLIVE TABLET HAS A MOVEMENT ALL ITS OWN"

Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well known physician in Portsmouth, Ohio, prescribes the Olive Tablets, a perfect vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities.

NEIGHBOR ACCUSED OF INCENDIARISM BY FOREIGN RESIDENT.

A small barn belonging to a foreigner, residing southeast of Vohrle park, was totally destroyed by fire Sunday morning about 5 o'clock and the owner has sought to cause the arrest of another foreigner on a charge of setting fire to the place. He told the mayor in broken English that the man had made threats against him. He was referred to the city solicitor for legal advice. The loss was small as the burned building had little value, being little more than a shack. The building was outside of the city limits.

NO CAUSE TO DOUBT

A Statement of Facts Backed by a Strong Guarantee

We guarantee immediate and positive relief to all sufferers from constipation. In every case where our remedy fails to do this we will return the money paid us for it. That's a frank statement of facts, and we want you to substantiate them at our risk.

Remedy Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus overcoming weakness and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Remedy Orderlies are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendant evils. That's why we back our faith in them with our promise of money back if they do not give entire satisfaction.

Three sizes: 12 tablets 10 cents, 36 tablets 25 cents and 50 tablets 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain Remedy Orderlies in Newark only at our store—The Rexall Store, Frank D. Hall druggist, 10 N. Side Square.

EX-MAYOR ATHERTON DIED MONDAY MORNING AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Had Suffered For Past Few Days With Bronchial Asthma Resulting From Bad Cold

Herbert Atherton, ex-mayor of Newark, died Monday morning at 7:18 o'clock at his apartments 11 1-2 North Fourth street after an illness of ten days of bronchial asthma. His death was not unexpected though it will come as a surprise to most Newark people.

About a month ago he was seized with a heavy cold which stubbornly resisted treatment and ten days ago it developed into bronchial asthma of an acute nature. For several days his condition was known to be serious and his family was prepared for the end which came Monday morning.

Most of Saturday and on Sunday he was kept under the influence of opiates to relieve his suffering and his end was peaceful.

Mr. Atherton was 66 years old. He was born in Madison township, August 9, 1846. His boyhood days and most of his early manhood were spent on the farm of his father, Augustus W. Atherton.

He moved to Newark in 1885 and went into the real estate business. While engaged in this business he platted an addition to the city and created a number of houses on the property. He also engaged in the coal business about this time.

He became interested in the Newark and Granville electric railroad and was one of the directors in the company which built and operated this line, said to be the first interurban road in Ohio.

He was at one time a director in the Newark Savings Bank and Homestead Building and Loan Association and was a member of the board of directors of the Baltimore Bent Works, now the Newark Gearwood company.

He became active in politics in this city and county in 1890 when he was elected real estate appraiser and in the fall of the same year was elected county commissioner. The latter office he held for two terms.

In 1898 he was elected mayor of Newark for the first time. In 1905 he was re-elected, serving two terms at this time.

After retiring from the office of Mayor he became associated with the police department and was appointed station house keeper, which position he held until 1907 when he resigned to again become a candidate for mayor. He was elected by the largest majority ever given a mayoralty candidate in the city, 1016. In 1909 he was re-elected to the office.

Since his return from California a year ago, Mr. Atherton has served as night clerk in the Star and Jackson hotels, serving in this capacity until taken ill the last time.

Mr. Atherton is survived by his wife, and two sons, Augustus of this city and William, who has been living in Detroit. A step-daughter, Mrs. W. V. Boggs, also survives. Three brothers are living. They are Lee Atherton of Delaware county and Warren and John Atherton of Newark.

Mr. Atherton's family has been prominent in politics in the county for more than a half century. His uncle, Gibson Atherton, was elected mayor of Newark in 1860. He gained a wide reputation in the state as a noted criminal lawyer, served as prosecuting attorney, represented his district in Congress, was appointed judge of the supreme court of Ohio to serve an unexpired term and was a member of the city council for several terms.

JAMES P. HENDERSON.

Mr. James P. Henderson, aged 67 years, died at his home, 524 Kibler avenue, Sunday morning, at 8:30 o'clock, after an illness of several years, due to a complication of diseases. Mr. Henderson moved to Newark from Logan three years ago, and during that time has been unable to actively engage a business pursuits.

The deceased is survived by his wife and three children, John A. Henderson, Mrs. J. L. McCracken of Rock Lick, W. Va., and Mrs. Josephine W. Henderson of the home. There will be short funeral services at the home in Kibler avenue Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. T. A. Cosgrove of the Second Presbyterian church officiating. The body will be taken to Logan where funeral services will be held at the First Presbyterian church Tuesday afternoon at 7 o'clock. The burial will be made at Logan.

WM. H. VINNING.

The funeral of Wm. H. Vinning, aged 18, who died Saturday, will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home in Stansbury street. Burial in Cedar Hill cemetery.

MRS. SARAH MAXFIELD.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Sarah Maxfield, whose death occurred Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jenkins of Maple avenue, was held Monday afternoon at o'clock. Interment was made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

MRS. MARY H. HUFFMAN.

Mrs. Mary H. Huffman, wife of R. Huffman, died Monday morning at 1 o'clock at her home 115 Cedar street, after an illness of three years. She was 53 years old.

She is survived by her husband, her mother, one sister, Mrs. T. T. Hyatt of Newark and Joshua McGee of Zanesville.

The funeral services will be held at the home Wednesday at 2 o'clock p. m., the Rev. Mr. Miller of Columbus, officiating. Interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

MRS. MATILDA DODD.

The many friends in Newark of Mrs. Matilda Dodd, a former well known Newark woman, who for a number of years conducted the old Central House, on North Fourth street, will regret to learn of her death, which occurred at the home of her daughter in Woodfield, O., on Saturday. The body was brought to Newark on the 11:30 train and the funeral services were held at the First M. E. church at 12:30 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. C. L. Sparks, and the interment was made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

MRS. AMY BALL.

The funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Amy Ball, who was one of Newark's oldest and best known Christian women, were held at the late home of the deceased on Buena Vista Hill, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends. The services were conducted by the Rev. T. A. Cosgrove and the interment was made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

FUNERAL OF FRANK SOUTHARD.
At the U. B. Church Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Tyler conducted the funeral services over the remains of the late Frank Southard in the presence of a large concourse of mourning relatives and sympathizing friends. The interment was made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

NERVOUS, DEBILITATED AND RUN-DOWN

Either the Rest Cure or Tona Vita Will Build
You Up Again.

If you are nervous, debilitated, and run-down in health, there are two things you can do to bring back your strength and vitality. You can go to a sanitarium and take the rest cure or you can secure the great modern tonic "Tona Vita" and let it build you up and furnish new nourishment for your shattered nerves.

If you knew what wonderful results have been accomplished by "Tona Vita" since physicians first introduced it in this country you would much rather take this tonic than to go to any sanitarium on earth. Here is a statement from Mr. J. B. House, of 381 Twentieth avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., who has tried "Tona Vita." "I was all run down, intensely nervous and suffered with the most violent headaches. I felt tired and dull all day, my body seemed benumbed at times, and I did not sleep well. My digestion was imperfect and I was continually constipated. As soon as I ate anything my stomach filled with gas and I was distressed for a half hour or more. My mind was dull and my memory very poor. I contracted a cold easily and suffered with severe coughs. Sometime ago I talked with a physician who advised me to take "Tona Vita." I did it and am glad I did for the medicine was wonderful in my case. I feel as though I had a new lease on life. My ambition has returned as well as my strength and energy.

"I now sleep well and get up in the morning feeling cheerful and ready for work."

"My wife was also run down and nervous. She started taking the medicine when it began to help me. Her improvement has been fine and she is now in good health."

If you are run down and haven't enough strength it is your own fault if you feel miserable a day longer, when you can get such a preparation as "Tona Vita."

R. F. Collins, 27 North Third street, is agent for Tona Vita in Newark, O. and will refund the purchase price if it is not entirely satisfactory. The Improved Formula Co., Dayton, O.

LEMON JUICE PREFERABLE TO CIDER.

Vinegar is spoiled cider and not always pure. It may under certain circumstances be beneficial in the same way as the acid of buttermilk and that of fruits, but these are far more desirable as antiseptics. Seen under the microscope, vinegar is repulsive. It is not necessary to take acid with "cold law," lettuce, etc., but if any is to be used lemon is best. Lemon juice is not incompatible with green vegetables. Vinegar preserves vegetables inside the stomach as it does outside—prevents digestion, although some animal foods pickled are more digestible.

LICKING COUNTY S. S. ASSOCIATION

The First M. E. church of Newark has graciously opened its doors to the County Sunday school convention, May 24 and 25. The splendid facilities of this church will add materially to the success of the convention. Plan now to come. Mr. Frank L. Johnson, the efficient secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and county adult class secretary, is planning a splendid parade on the evening of the 24th. Organize your Sunday school class now and get in line for the parade. No time nor expense will be spared to make the convention helpful to all Sunday school workers. Teacher-training classes who complete their course before the convention should notify W. A. Holmes of Granville as soon as possible, in order that he may complete his plans for the commencement program. The statistical reports are coming in. Jersey township was the first to report. Liberty was a close second. Jersey township was organized Dec. 9; it reports 3 schools, with a total membership of 404. Liberty reports 2 schools, with a total enrollment of 164.

The finances are in fair shape. Harrison township leads, with its entire apportionment paid. Bennington and Liberty have each paid one-half their apportionment. The others are still further in arrears. Let us have some more townships paid in full before March 31.

We are sorry to lose our assistant secretary, Miss Ford, who leaves us for several months because of ill-health, but we hope for her speedy recovery and her return to the work.

Every Sunday school worker who can do so should plan to attend the great missionary exposition in Cincinnati, which opened March 9 and continues until April 6. You can acquire more missionary information in a few days by visiting "The World in Cincinnati," than you can glean in months of foreign travel. A number of Licking county Sunday school folks are going. One church is planning an excursion of 25 of its members to Missionary Hall. It will pay you to go.

Yours for better Sunday schools,
CLARICE E. CARROLL, Sec.

OLD LANDMARK TO GIVE WAY FOR NEW BUILDING

"Old Homestead" Which Has Stood For Half a Century Being Razed—Rapid Bound in Valuation

In the giving way of the old frame building on West Main street, known as the "Old Homestead," conducted so successfully in later years by the Schaller Bros., will disappear one of Newark's old landmarks. This however is in accordance with the march of progress, and while many will see the old building go with a sigh for the old times, they are brought to a realization of the many changes that have been made for the better since the old building was first erected more than half a century ago.

Originally the building stood on the corner where the City Hall now stands and was built by Clement Brooke, one of Newark's pioneer citizens. Eventually Mr. Brooke traded the corner lot on which his shop stood to the City of Newark, for the property on which the old market house stood, and moved the building there where it has stood ever since, the original framework being nearly as good as the day it was built.

The quarter section of land on which the City of Newark was laid out was patented to John M. Cummings, John Burnett and William Burnett.

The first deed for the east half of lots 66 and 71, fronting on North Fourth street, which extended along West Main street from Fourth street to the Gleichauf alley, and from West Main street north along Fourth street to the alley running from the Gleichauf alley, and which included the premises occupied by "The Old Homestead" property, was made to Washington Johnston for $40. Since that time the property has changed hands many times, and it seems incredible that the property which in 1800 sold for $40, is today valued at several hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The "Old Homestead" property originally had considerably more frontage than it has at the present time. When Mr. Brooke traded with the city he let Joshua Zartman, an old pioneer gunsmith, have sixteen feet off the property. When Mr. Brooke retired from the cabinet business the building was occupied by a Mr. Petrie, who conducted a saloon, and it has been used for that purpose almost continuously ever since.

In 1885 it was purchased by Valentine and Anthony Binder for $4,500, who for many years conducted a saloon and restaurant that was patronized by traveling men and others from all parts of the country.

Just a few weeks ago Messrs. Charles and Edward Schaller purchased this property, paying $20,000 cash for same. These gentlemen will erect a modern three-story building with a frontage of 34 feet by 110 feet deep. It is to be completed some time before July 1. Messrs. Schaller's will occupy it with a newly furnished cafe, pool and billiard parlor, the interior furnished in old mission style. William Patton of this city designed the new building and also has the contract for its construction.

YOUR GRAY HAIRS QUICKLY VANISH

A Harmless Remedy, Made From Garden Sage, Restores Color to Gray Hair.

A feeling of sadness accompanies the discovery of the first gray hairs which unfortunately are looked upon as heralds of advancing age. Gray hair, however, handsome it may be, makes a person look old. We all know the advantages of being young. Aside from the good impression a youthful appearance makes on others simply knowing that you are "looking fit" gives one courage to undertake and accomplish things. So why suffer the handicap of looking old on account of gray hairs, when a simple remedy will give your hair youthful and color and beauty in a few days' time?

Most people know that common garden sage acts as a color restorer and scalp tonic as well. Our grandmothers used a "Sage Tea" for keeping their hair dark, soft and luxuriant. In Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy we have an ideal preparation of Sage, combined with Sulphur and other valuable remedies for dandruff, itching scalp and thin, weak hair that is split at the ends or coming out. A few applications of this valuable remedy will bring back the color, and in a short time it will remove every trace of dandruff and greatly improve the growth and appearance of the hair.

Get a fifty cent bottle from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' treatment. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Frank D. Hall, druggist, 10 North Side Square.

NEWARK HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Wotring has been giving health talks to the senior girls each Tuesday morning.

Miss Allen, chairman of the art committee, presented to the school an Indian picture purchased from the collection at the Trust Building and likewise gave a very interesting talk about the picture. The picture was purchased with a portion of the proceeds of the lecture course.

Friday evening Doane played Newark in a basket ball game and the Faculty, consisting of Messrs. Patterson, Stinson, Bowers, Beatty and Milnor played against the Seniors, Roy Priest, Fred Chase, Carl Walker, Jas. Brown and Ralph Porter.

The lecture course was especially good Thursday evening even though it was delayed when the pianist became overcome by the nervous strain. Miss Marie Bolin, who was in the audience, kindly consented to play the accompaniment to the second act of "Martha."

Many of the students are working overtime in manual training, showing the amount of interest for the work. Some of the teachers expect to attend the Mathematics and Science meeting which will be held in Columbus March 29 and 30.

The Juniors are learning their parts in "As You Like It." They will begin the staging of it immediately after the spring vacation.

The walking clubs which were organized last semester will be resumed as soon as the weather permits.

The Athletic association is to elect the manager and assistant managers for the various teams next Tuesday. There are at least two nominations for each office.

The Seniors have not yet selected their play but we may be assured that they will give something of distinctive merit.

Miss Thomas and her pupils are enthusiastic over the new blackboard which has been placed in Room 9.

The spring vacation comes the first week in April. Just two full weeks until that time. It is taken for granted that the pupils will be reluctant to depart.

Mr. Barnes is trying to secure from the various colleges and universities to which Newark sends students, photographs of buildings and equipments, that a room in the high school may be fitted up with such pictures.

The basketball season is drawing to a close. The season has been eminently satisfactory. Though not all of the games have been won yet Mr. Milnor and the boys and girls deserve credit for the work accomplished.

Principal Wynans sent a letter of congratulation to Prof. Barnes for the excellent work that was done by Newark's debating team with Mt. Vernon and Zanesville and since he says that Mt. Vernon is going to be hard to fight next year it is not too early for us to begin immediately to get ready for the debate.

Mr. Barnes, as is his custom to hustle things, is trying to secure some tennis courts for the high school. With track and field work, tennis, and baseball all who want to take part can be accommodated. The cross country run which was to have taken place in December but was postponed on account of bad weather, will take place this spring.

The pupils rejoice over the bond issue. That victory coupled with the victory in the two debates was almost too much for one week.

A debate has been arranged between the Athenian Literary society and the New Lexington High school at New Lexington on the second Friday night in April. Newark will have the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, That each state in the union should adopt the Initiative and Referendum."

INSPECTED THE HEBRON F. & A. M.

At the last meeting of Hebron Lodge, No. 116, F. & A. M., there was a splendid turnout of members of the lodge and considerable business was transacted. A. L. Rawlings of Newark was present and inspected the lodge. He found everything in fine shape and complimented the officers and members on the efficiency of the work.

Farmers, mechanics, railroaders, laborers rely on Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Takes the sting out of cuts, burns or bruises at once. Pain cannot stay where it is used.

MANY BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED BY SERVICE DIRECTOR

With the approach of good weather, appearances indicate that there will be considerable activity in construction work this spring. From Jan. 4 until March 16, eight building permits have been issued, most of them within the past few weeks. Permits since Jan. 4 are as follows:

Wohrle Realty Co., 5-room frame dwelling, Seroco avenue, $1500.

Emma Davis, 6-room frame dwelling, Channel street, $1400.

Rose Mabry, 4-room dwelling, 147 Hudson avenue, $850.

James K. Hamill, 2-story concrete block warehouse, rear market house, $1500.

Advance Glass Company, factory buildings, Maholm Addition, $15,300.

Charles P. Grandstaff, 4-room frame dwelling, Wing street, $1000.

George Forshea, repairs to building, Leroy street, $250.

Leonard Essman, frame barn, Broad street, $150.

CHEMICALS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR CASES OF ILLNESS

An investigation conducted by the health department into the report that potatoes which were in the car in the Pennsylvania yards when the car caught fire, had caused several cases of illness in families where they were used has proven that little ground exists for charging the illness to the potatoes. It was said that the chemicals used by the department in extinguishing the flames saturated the potatoes and that when used on the table, those who ate of them were made ill.

A member of the department claimed that the chemicals could not have caused the trouble; that the firemen often get the liquid into their eyes and mouth and suffer no ill effects.

It was also determined by the investigation that one lot of potatoes to which the illness of several persons was charged, did not come from the man who owned the potatoes in the car.

ALL NATIONS OF ONE BLOOD.

Pastor Russell Shows the Futility of Trying to Prove a Human Evolution in Conflict With the Declaration of Scripture—God Created Man in His Own Image and the Present Diversities of Degradation Are All Results of Adam's Fall From Divine Favor.

PASTOR RUSSELL

London, March 17.—London Tabernacle was crowded today to greet Pastor Russell. He occupied the pulpit and behind him on the rostrum were the six other members of the Foreign Missions Investigation Committee, viz., Gen. W. P. Hall, United States Army; Prof. F. H. Robison, Dr. L. W. Jones, Mr. J. T. D. Pyles, Mr. E. W. V. Kuehn and Mr. H. B. Maxwell, all of the United States.

Pastor Russell opened his address by remarking that although the International Bible Students Association, which appointed the Committee of which he was Chairman, held a British Charter and might be supposed by some to make a full or partial report in London of its findings, he regretted that they would be disappointed. The Committee felt that it should make but one report, and advice received indicated that considerable preparation had been made for the Committee's reception in New York City on Sunday, March 31.

However, said Pastor Russell, things are marvelous today, and with the wonderful facilities for communication, Britishers, as well as the people of the United States and Canada, will receive the report at practically the same time through hundreds of their prominent newspapers.

Very Significant Text.
His text was this: "God hath made of one blood all nations of men, for to dwell upon the face of the earth; and hath determined the times before appointed and the bounds of their habitation, that they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after Him and find Him." (Acts xvii, 26, 27.) He said:—

Our text is taken from Saint Paul's address to the Athenians, whom he found so religiously inclined that they had erected an idol to every known deity, and then one prominently "to the unknown God." The words of my text have been repeatedly borne in upon my mind in my sojournings of the past four months. I marvelled as I perceived the thoroughness of the division of the human family as a result of the confusion of human language. Time and again the Apostle's statement that God had "determined the bounds of their habitations" impressed me.

Our text explains the matter: It was of God; and we will doubtless yet see more particularly than now how it worked some good for all—staying the downward tendency of sin.

Of One Blood All Nations.
My wider contact with humanity impresses the Apostle's declaration that our various nationalities are all of one blood—or are of one original parentage. And in this scientists, usually wholly out of accord with the Bible, agree. They do not claim that our race evolved from many monkeys, but merely from one pair. It seems strange indeed to me that some of these learned gentlemen so persistently bend their efforts to antagonize the Bible—endeavoring to prove a human evolution in conflict with the Bible declaration that God created man in His own image—likeness—and that the present diversities of degradation are all results of Adam's fall from Divine favor, through disobedience, under the sentence of death.

Even if some divisions of our race do bear a stronger resemblance than others to the ape, this is surely not scientific proof that they evolved from the ape. Just as reasonably might we argue the reverse, that they are a more degraded section of humanity. But we do not so rate it. On the contrary, the most savage peoples seem to have a mental organism capable of quite a considerable development under favorable conditions, even of a few years.

Indeed, when we consider the inferior station of woman in all the heathen nations, and the blankness of the mother's mind and her dejection and hopelessness and the tendency of these to mark her offspring, we do not wonder at the sad faces of many of heathen lands, both male and female. Indeed, on the contrary, we are astonished as we compare some of the lowest types of Christendom with some of the degraded types of heathendom—surprised that the difference is not greater. The explanation for it all is that we have not had the true type of Christianity. Our Christianity has been so mixed with superstition and so impregnated with error that Chureliant, taken as a whole, in the four hundred millions of Christendom, is a hybrid thing—a slander upon the name Christ and upon the teachings of Christ.

And, by the way, I remind you of Saint Paul's explanation of the degradation of the heathen, as set forth in the first chapter of his Epistle to the Romans. He tells us most distinctly, as the Old Testament does, that man originally knew His Creator and was in fellowship with Him, but that he gradually slipped away from this into greater and greater depths of degradation, mental, moral and physical. Let me read Saint Paul's words: "When they knew God, they glorified Him not as God, neither were thankful, but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools, and changed the glory of the incorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man, and to birds and four-footed beasts and creeping things. [Contrary to Divine instructions they imagined that the recognition of God in all these various creatures would increase their reverence and make them better and more thoughtful of the lower creatures. But herein they were foolish.] Wherefore, God also gave them up to uncleanness, through the lusts of their own hearts, to dishonor their own bodies between themselves. . . . And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not proper."—Rom. i, 21-28.

"Feel After God and Find Him."
But the feature of our text which most particularly impresses me is Saint Paul's declaration that God determined and appointed in advance the times of these nations—when they should be brought in contact with the light of Divine Truth, to the intent that the reverential quality, inherent in the race, might exercise itself and feel after the true God and happily find Him.

We see that in Divine providence the torch of the Gospel, first lighted in Palestine, spread westward and northward, through Europe, and still westward to America. It, indeed, has been the torch of civilization. No other power in the world possesses the dynamic force of the Gospel Message. In proportion as it is received in its purity it breaks the fetters of ignorance and superstition. It sets men free. It declares, as does our text, the oneness of the human family—that the entire human family are by nature brothers. It tells that God is no respecter of persons and that the same laws of right and wrong apply to kings and princes, bishops and clergy, that apply to the humblest members of the race, and that all must give an account to the great Creator sooner or later.

This feature of the Gospel Message has been the igniting spark for all our civilization. But, alas! the combination of this civilization with the innate selfishness of the unregenerate produces a human type which is dangerous, because of its higher intelligence and unrestrained sweep of ambition and imagination combined with a fallen nature, born in sin and shapen in iniquity and continually tending toward selfishness. In other words, a man wholly ruled by selfishness is dangerous to his fellows in proportion to his education and enlightenment. He knows better than his heathen neighbor how to take advantage of the circumstances and conditions of life, for he is lifted mentally to a higher plane.

Conditions Now Changing.
Saint Paul in our text declares that God has predetermined "times" associated with His dealings with the nations and in bringing to them the Gospel. We have already considered the Divine order and time in association with the call of the "elect" Church—a "little flock"—called out of every nation, people, kindred and tongue, to be the Redeemer's associates in the Messianic Kingdom which is to bless Israel and all the nations. We believe that this election of the Church class is about complete and that soon thereafter God's Kingdom, the reign of righteousness, the world's Judgment Day, will begin.

It should not surprise us, therefore, to find great changes imminent amongst the peoples of the whole world. The bounds of human habitations and the barriers of language are rapidly yielding because of the other times of Divine appointment which have been reached, viz., the period mentioned in Daniel's prophecy as "the Time of the End." (Daniel xii, 1.) And here we must remind you afresh that the Time of the End does not mean the end of time. It merely signifies the time for the ending of the present order of things, that a new order of things, the Messianic Kingdom, may be substituted. Twenty-five centuries ago God determined this time and appointed it and gave us four very important proofs by which to identify it. Let us examine these.

(1) The first sign of the Time of the End was to be, "Many shall run to and fro." How wonderfully this prophecy is fulfilled before our eyes today! Its fulfillment has been in progress, especially for fifty years. And it is less than eighty years since the first locomotive was built. The nations, first separated by diverse languages, kept well within the bounds of their habitations for many centuries until now; and now suddenly we have a running to and fro in fulfillment of this prophecy which is amazing. The various nations and languages are being scattered all over the earth.

(2) The next step in the prophecy marking the Time of the End of this Age is, "Knowledge shall be increased." This general increase of education amongst all classes is a logical result of the commingling of humanity and the lessons of comparison and competition being learned. Suddenly, as though in obedience to the Divine command, nation after nation has made schooling free; and not content with this, has made it compulsory; and this spirit is spreading to Oriental lands. The whole world is waking up! Personal rights and national rights are everywhere being discussed. The schools of India are said to be turning out a million graduates in the English language every year. The Chinese also are introducing English schools. What will be the results? Enlightenment? Yes! Godliness? No! Contentment? No! Dissatisfaction, war, strife, anarchy, are coming to the world by leaps and bounds, as a result of general education, and the breath of Liberty, because not backed by reverence for God and a knowledge of and submission to His will. Japan, China and India seem merely waiting for a spark to start a conflagration—anarchy.

Destructiveness of Higher Criticism.
And as for Europe and America, the conditions there are the same, for what faith the masses did have in God and in the Bible is being rapidly undermined by the theories of Higher Criticism and Evolution which are advanced from the colleges and seminaries and pulpits, and are invading, not only the public schools, but also the Sunday Schools. Evidently any system of knowledge which denies or opposes God and the Bible is an injurious education—harmful to the last degree. However, by now this God-ignoring education has so fastened itself upon the world as to be impossible to shake it off.

(3) The third item indicative of the Time of the End of this Age is that "The wise shall understand," not the worldly wise, but those wise toward God. And so we find it today. While the great and the learned and the masses are rapidly drifting into heathenish darkness, away from the Bible, God's saintly few of every nation and of every denomination, are gradually seeing more and more clearly the teachings of the Scriptures, and ridding themselves more and more of the creeds of men which for centuries have helped to blind and to stumble and to make the Divine character and the Divine Word appear inconsistent and unreasonable, and to separate God's children into six hundred different sects and parties. These creeds are now being seen in their true light by the saints and are being discarded—smashed.

(4) As a result of the fulfillments of Nos. 1 and 2, we see nearing us, portentously, No. 4: "There shall be a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation." That time of trouble, as already intimated, is now looming up on the horizon of every nation. It comes in the wake of an unsanctified knowledge. It would mean the utter wreck of all of our civilization were it not for the interposition of the Kingdom of God's dear Son, for which we have long waited and prayed. "Thy Kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven." Our Lord, speaking of this trouble, declared, "Unless these days were shortened there should no flesh be saved; but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened."—because of the "elect," and the Kingdom which they will establish, that great "time of trouble" will be cut short—it will not be allowed to work out the terror at first apprehended.

The Hope of the World.
I am returning from heathendom fully convinced that the hope of the world is exactly what God's Word declares, namely, the Messianic Kingdom. Unless that Kingdom comes, and comes soon, the world will be in the most terrible plight it has ever known. But my confidence in the Word of God and in the promise of the Kingdom "under the whole heavens" grows stronger every day. The Bible, once a sealed Book, once apparently contradictory, once assumed to be in harmony with the creeds, and their very foundation, I now see to be the most wonderful Book in the whole world. It merely needed the light now due to God's people to shine upon its pages, to scatter our night and enable us to truly sing, "Wonderful things in the Bible I see!"

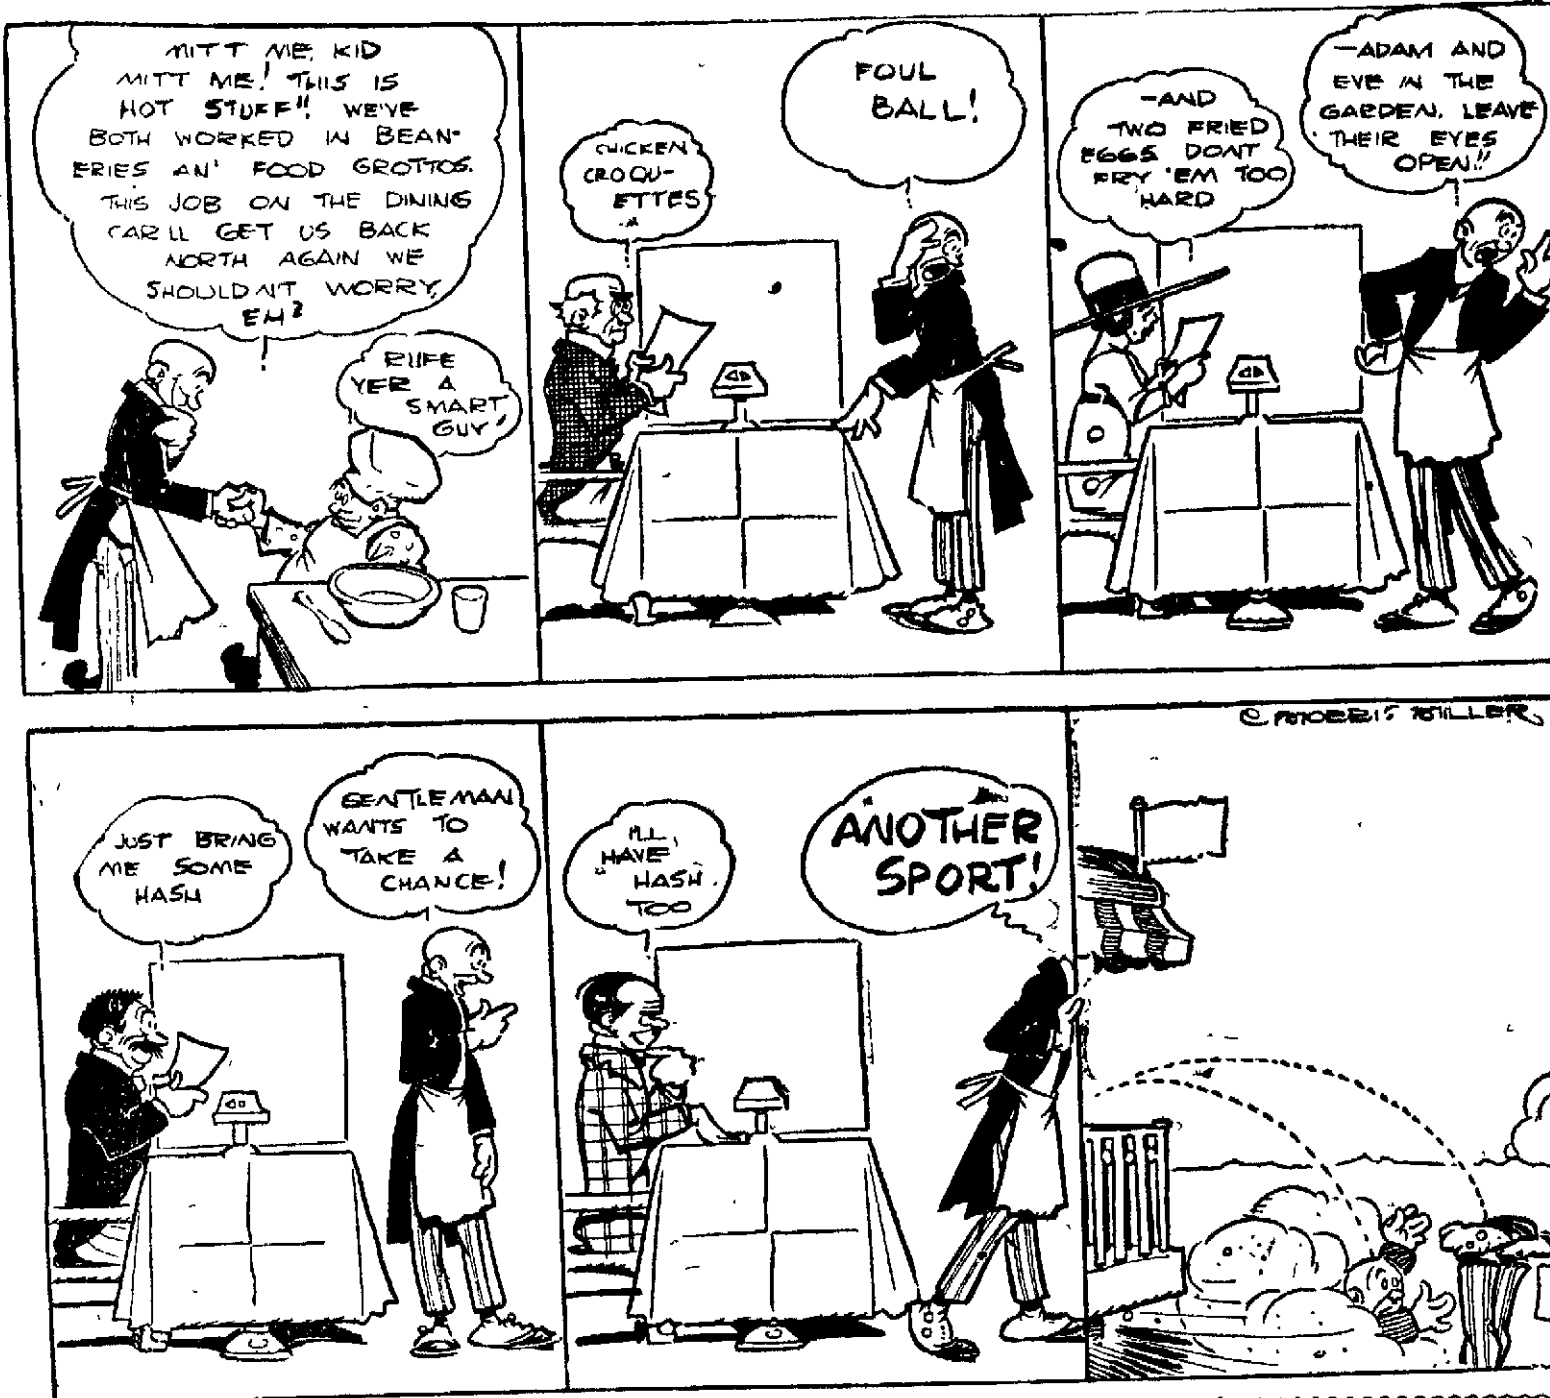

The three wonderful things of the Bible which I would wish to impress upon you at this time are: The Justice of God, in permitting a death penalty to come upon our race as a punishment for sin; (2) The Mercy of God, like the wisdom of the sea, which is making provision for Adam and every member of his race to return to Divine favor and everlasting life, if they will—otherwise, to be remanded into Death—"everlasting destruction."

(3) If there could be a more wonderful thing than the general provision for humanity, restitution to human perfection and an earthly Eden and all that was lost by Adam and provided for in the redemption at Calvary—that still more wonderful thing is "the exceeding riches of God's grace in His kindness toward us in Christ Jesus." Ah, what wondrous love God is manifesting toward this specially called class, invited to become the Bride of Christ! Truly, "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man the things God hath in reservation for those who love Him; but God hath revealed them unto us by His spirit; for the spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God."

This wonderful provision for the Bride, the Lamb's Wife, is glory, honor, immortality—joint-heirship with her Lord in His glorious Station, and association with Him in His glorious work of blessing, first, the nation of Israel, and secondarily, through them, all the nations of the earth, according to the Divine promise. For such a hope, surely, "we may trials well endure." For such a glory surely we may well, if necessary, "sail through bloody seas." For such a crown surely we may well count all earthly advantages and good things, privileges and opportunities and honors, but as loss and drudgery, "that we may win Christ and be found in Him."

CHARGED WITH VIOLATION OF SUNDAY LAW

Five officers in plain clothes were on duty yesterday in an effort to apprehend violators of the Sunday closing ordinance. Four of the officers were regular patrolmen doing plain clothes duty, while the fifth was an "unknown." The regular patrolmen were unable to get the goods on any of the suspected places, but the fifth officer landed two.

Complaint was filed against the Bolton cafe, opposite the B. & O. station on a charge of violation of the Sunday closing ordinance. The case was continued until the return of the proprietor, J. J. Bolton, who is out of the city.

James Bennett, a bartender, was ordered up for selling beer at his home in Jackson street, where the officers found evidence of violation of the Sunday laws. He was fined $10 and costs.

Galvani, the noted hypnotist and mind reader, the man who keeps the people in a furor of excitement from the time he strikes the city until long after his engagement has closed, is booked to appear at the Auditorium theatre for two nights commencing Tuesday, March 19 and already the public in general is looking forward to this remarkable man's appearance here.

He will place a man in a hypnotic sleep Monday evening in the window of Besanceney's and Tuesday afternoon he will make his perilous blindfolded carriage drive. On the drive Galvani, securely blindfolded, drives a team of spirited horses at breakneck speed and locates articles which have been hidden by several committees of local men of prominence.

OLD VETERAN CELEBRATED 80TH BIRTHDAY

A general inquiry was made by the passersby on South Fifth street as to what was the unusual occasion for the shoe shop of Capt. John Hiser being open on a Sunday afternoon. A glance at the men who were assembling carried the remark that it might be "boot-leggers," but at 5 o'clock twenty gray haired men might have been seen to take a soldierly formation and start for the South End. They turned west on Wilson street and stopped at No. 59 the residence of Mr. Frank Jennings, where they had been invited to celebrate not only St. Patrick's day but the birthday of a younger Irishman, the venerable father of Mr. Jennings, Mr. James K. Jennings, of 62 Wilson street who reached the 80th milestone in his life on Saturday, March 16. Twenty members of Enticement No. 31, Union Veteran Legion met to celebrate the natal day of one of their oldest as well as best beloved comrades; an unusually fine time was had and the afternoon was spent in the way that only the boys who bore the brunt of battle know how to spend it, in telling again their experiences and singing patriotic songs, listening to splendid music, both vocal and instrumental and discussing a three course five o'clock dinner prepared by Mrs. Jennings ably assisted by her daughter and niece. The tables were beautifully decorated in American and Irish flags and candles of the colors of old Glory were lighted and plenty of tobacco was burned after the feast and after more music, Col. J. L. Wylie on behalf of the U. V. L. presented Mr. Jennings with a beautiful antique rocker. Mr. Jennings responded with his thanks and after "America" was sung another pleasant gathering of the "Old Boys in Blue" passed into history.

Mr. James K. Jennings was born in the city of Dublin, Ireland, March 16, 1832. He migrated to Quebec, Canada in 1848, and the same year came to Newark, O. He enlisted as a private in C. D. 3rd O. V. I. and served in the 76th O. V. I. having three years and eight months service to his credit. Mr. Jennings is one of Newark's oldest Irish-American citizens and is respected and honored by all who know him.

The following were present: Comrades Avery, Barrett, Collins, Darling, Frederick, Goodrich, Hill, Hollister, Hiser, Harris, Haughey, Jennings, Lowe, Mack, Rugg, Smith, Wells, Waggoner, Wylie, and Wylie; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jennings, son Harry and daughter, Tilley, Miss Maggie Jennings, a grand daughter, and Misses Edna Robbins and Mable Newberry, of Newark, and Mr. Oscar Eichenberg of Zanesville.

GRANVILLE PROBLEMS.

Granville, Ohio, March 18.—The town council is to meet this evening and will take up the problem of handling municipal affairs. The tax rate gives the village about $21.00 and it costs about $3000 for coal for the water-electric light plant alone. The mayor, clerk and marshal each receive $100 per annum. The problem is to make ends meet. A proposition is being considered to buy electric current from Newark for lighting the town.
